Nostalgia Department: A Brief Look At Other Presidential Summers Here

With Republican business accomplished and Democratic business scheduled to start Monday, it's fun to put your feet up on a party platform, sit back and recall how it was in other pre-presidential summers. 1976, 1972, 1968, 1964 and 1960. We could go back to Grover Cleveland, of course, but 20 years seems an appropriate stopping point.

1976 was the Bicentennial Year. In fact, Bicen. celebrations often overshadowed Presidential contests in news columns. TOWN TOPICS ran a story on signers of the Declaration of Independence called "Four Who Signed," referring with proper local chauvinism to four who had lived in Princeton. And there was a series of articles on George Washington's major military encampments.

In the June primaries, Morris Udall's delegates beat Jimmy Carter's in the Township, 965 to 583 and Gerald Ford was a landslide victor over Ronald Reagan. Borough Republicans gave 508 votes to Ford and 13 to Reagan. Democrats bestowed 421 votes on Jimmy Carter, 158 on Frank Church and 55 on Udall.

Locally, Democrats were engaged in mild civil strife over filling the Borough Council seat of Murray Medvin, who had died that June. There was a primary contest among David Male, Martin P Lombardo and Marvin Trotman for the pair of seats available on Council. Male and Lombardo won, but only Lombardo made it to victory in November.

It was only four years ago, but chuck steak was 59 cents a pound and London broil, $1.59. You could buy a four-bedroom, two and one-half-bath Colonial on Riverside Drive for $95,500.

The summer was tense: the New Jersey Supreme Court ordered all state public schools closed July 1 unless the legislature found a way to finance public education without relying on the property tax. The court made good its threat, schools were closed briefly but the legislature finally came through with the income-tax and schools opened again. Edith Francis was made Acting Superintendent of Princeton schools.

In July, the Borough Zoning Board OKd three and one-half more stories on the hospital's "J" wing.

Belle? Hurricane Belle? That's right. Princeton was on the western edge in mid-August. TOWN TOPICS' editorial comment: "like being hit with a wet mop."

1972: In this turbulent year for Princeton, student demonstrators protested the presence on Princeton University's campus of the Institute for Defense Analyses (since re-located to a new building off Terhune), and "Stop the (Vietnam) War" petitions were available for signature in both Borough and Township halls.

The Eagleton Institute, polling 1,218 people, had Richard Nixon ahead of George McGovern by 39 percent to 32 percent, with 15 percent favoring George Wallace. Matched against Edward Kennedy, Nixon was ahead by 40 to 33 percent.

In the June primaries, the Borough favored McGovern with 1,271 over Hubert Humphrey's 162,

100-Degree Temperatures of July Easier to Take Than August's Blend of High Heat and Humidity

"Those 100-degree temperatures didn't feel as bad as these of 90-degrees do now," said meteorologist Leith Holloway, wiping a dew-point from his brow.

At the Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Laboratory on Princeton University's Forrestal campus, Mr. Holloway doesn't measure relative humidity except relatively: he knows a humid day when he feels one.

At the U.S. Weather Bureau in Trenton, Carl Ewald noted the 92-degree temperature and 53 percent relative humidity at 2 p.m. Tuesday and said, yes, it was humid. (Tuesday afternoon's thundershower pushed the humidity to 94 percent.)

And it has been hotter than usual, in case you were wondering. Mr. Holloway, commenting that the first four days in August were "carbon-copies of each other," clocked a mean temperature of 79 to 80, with a maximum of 93 and a night minimum of 66.

"That's four degrees above normal for this time of year," he said. And then, as he heard the first crackle of Tuesday's afternoon storm, he remarked that the shower would put "a slight glinch" in the carbon-copy pattern of the past few days.

It's not the same heat wave as July's 102-degree sizzler, Mr. Ewald says. That one can be blamed on the mid-west heat wave, and the fact that it came in from Arkansas accounts for its relative dryness.

After those readings of 100 and 102, Mr. Ewald reminds us cheerfully, there was a break, with readings around 78 only two days after the 100-degree reading.

The present "condition," as he delicately calls it, has been with us at least six days – as of Tuesday – and can be traced a few days farther to include the whole last week of July.

It comes, as you may have guessed, from that old favorite, the Bermuda High, and a strong, warm, moist flow of air from the south-southeast.

In winter, the Bermuda High is far out to sea, but in summer, when the land heats up, it shifts and comes in close, too close for comfort, obviously. Clockwise circulation keeps pumping that hot, moist air right up to Nassau Street.

Incidentally, the moist air has caused early-morning fog, as you have observed if you're a dawn jogger. The warm air up from the southeast, plus the slight cooling at night, makes the fog.

This particular summer, meteorologists are pointing out, the jet stream has shifted north. This influence on Princeton's heat is only "indirect," meteorologists here say.

If the jet stream were farther south, as it usually is, there would be more frequent changes in the weather and the influence of the Bermuda High would be lessened, according to meteorologists at Science Associates.

Afternoon showers haven't done much toward moistening a very dry summer. A Science Associates rain gauge shows less than one inch – .71 inches – over the first four days of the month. The highest reading was .49 inches at 8 a.m. Sunday.

Meanwhile, how are you going to pass the time? Swimming in the Princeton Community Pool, for one thing There has been more than normal pool use, reports recreation director R. Donald Barr, and a corresponding increase in pool revenues, which are the kind of high readings he likes.

'Friends of Recreation' Seek Funds for Leisure-Time Activities

You may think it's too hot even to swim, much less recreate with any of the sweatier sports, but the new Friends of Princeton Community Recreation says now is the time to sign up new members, and so the word, in the form of a form letter, has gone out.

"Terrific! Please have someone contact me about a major gift," is the penultimate line in the letter. (The ultimate line: "I cannot afford the cost of membership, but I am happy to send what I can.")

Membership, tax-deductible, is $5. Or, of course, as much more as you like.

The organization has been formed to provide financial aid to worthy projects that otherwise would never get to first base, either because of cuts in municipal budgets or lack of private funding.

The new group, in the first few months of its existence, has already received enough money from contributors to make a grant to the Princeton Recreation Department for purchase of special playground games. But the soliciting letter makes it plain that the municipal Recreation Department won't necessarily be the only beneficiary. As time goes by and money comes in, the Friends board of directors will make grants, not only to the Recreation Department, but to other groups in town who are interested in public recreation.

With a $500 grant from the Friends, R. Donald Barr, head of the Recreation Department, bought six large and six small "All Balls," the all-sponge playground ball that won't hurt you if it bongs you on the head.

He also bought a 36-inch cage ball–the kind you can toss over a net, bounce on a parachute (he bought that, too) or roll on yourself. A big tug-of-war rope and two instructional manuals describing new games, completed his shopping list.

"These are things for all ages, not solely the playground age," Mr. Barr says, pointing to possible use next spring by the Art People Party and the Medical Center Auxiliary's Fete.

Although he realizes that Friends' money may not always be channeled into his department, Mr. Barr has made some suggestions for the future. Supply items for programs run by volunteers, rank high on his list. Track and swim teams and basketball players need things like stop watches, relay batons, measuring tapes, score clocks. As it is now, volunteers running these programs beg or borrow what they need from whoever has something to lend.

No new programs will be set up by the Recreation Department with Friends money, Mr. Barr emphasizes. This would only jeopardize a new program if money ran out, and the municipalities did not have enough to take over.

Presidential Summers

while the Township was overwhelmingly McGovern: 2,605 to 237 for Humphrey. The final contestants; of course: Nixon and McGovern.

Anne Martindell of Princeton – now U.S. Ambassador to New Zealand – headed New Jersey's delegation to the Democratic convention in Miami.

Princeton was now part of the "newly-formed Fifth Congressional District," and Democrat Fred Bohen, having won in the primaries, planned (unsuccessfully, as it turned out) to unseat Republican Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen.

Drug Problems. Patricia Wertheimer was principal of the high school. Like other adults, she was concerned about Princeton's teen drug problem. A page one story in TOWN TOPICS dealt with a recent recommendation to hire a full-time person to deal with drug abuse.

This was the year Michael Carnevale was appointed Borough Police Chief. And Borough Council was debating what to do with the old gym–now being remodeled for senior citizen use.

"A hidden gold mine" is the way Charles Freericks of the Princeton Taxpayers Committee characterized "400 acres of high, wooded but very idle land." Build houses, he urged in July. The 1980 Master Plan recommends very restricted building for much of this acreage. Public housing was announced for Mt. Lucas Road--the present Redding Terrace.

A leg of lamb cost 89 cents a pound and coffee, 79 cents. A three-bedroom, two-bath house on Riverside was $74,900, and "Concert for Bangladesh" was at the Playhouse. It was the final Commencement for Robert Goheen; William Bowen became University president in June.

1968. This is the convention year people remember--the year Chicago police tangled with participants and observers at the Democratic convention. A resident of Princeton at that time, Jeff Rake, 21, was beaten by police as he did volunteer medical work on wounded. In Palmer Square, 50 people demonstrated in late August, urging Presidential candidate Humphrey to "deplore police violence in Chicago."

A writer to TOWN TOPICS' "Mailbox" asked for the names of state delegates, arguing that "the nation's voters are entitled to an open convention, and a wider choice is essential than the apparent headlong rush toward first-ballot selection of Nixon and Humphrey."

Eugene McCarthy was a 6-1 favorite of Princeton's Democrats, Borough and Township. Nixon got 226 write-in votes; Reagan, 10; Wallace 4 in June's primaries.

Over 4,000 people watched the funeral train of assassinated Robert Kennedy pass through Princeton Junction. Princeton's Republican headquarters carried a black-bordered picture of Kennedy in its window. But Republicans were really excited about Nelson Rockefeller. Tristam B. Johnson, a strong backer, helped to collect the 4,000 signatures for Rockefeller in the Princeton area.

A Democratic Split. Candidates chosen, the Princeton Community Democratic Association refused Humphrey its endorsement because of his position on Vietnam. Others urged supporting him "as a lesser evil than Nixon."

In "Question of the Week," a TOWN TOPICS feature of that time, the reporter asked in early September, "Have you given any thought to not voting election day?" And one reply was, "I don't think the man in the street wants either of them."

But Township residents seemed more concerned about a dog-control ordinance, and at those steamy hearings, Presidential politics were remote indeed.

A report recommended admission of women to Princeton University. Hopewell Township was fighting I-95. There was consideration of a civil rights commission for Princeton. TOWN TOPICS had a story, "They Were in Prague When the Russians Came."

Strike Slows Jadwin Gym. You could buy a house in the Borough's western section, five bedrooms, for $52,500. Hamburger was 49 cents; sirloin, 99; eggs, 29; bacon, 79.

A construction strike was slowing completion of Jadwin Gym. And the Memorial Day issue listed 38 Princeton residents serving in Vietnam.

1964. "Can Governor Scranton Stop Goldwater?" was TOWN TOPICS "Question of the Week," and although the consensus was "no," a Mercer County "Scranton for President Committee" was formed, with Bruce Schragger and Regina Meredith as co-chairmen. Princeton mayors Henry S. Patterson and William L. Wilson declared for Scranton.

In September, "Independent Voters for Johnson" drew such names as Stringfellow Barr, Paul Tillett, Roger Sessions, Thomas Hartman, George Pellettieri and Ernest Gordon. Liberalized state voter registration rules brought a run of voters to municipal halls.

Princeton residents, as always, spoke out: "Stop Goldwater!" urged William Sloane, Harold Mantell and Peter Mark. But Gilbert Bliss declared Goldwater was "the man the people have been waiting for."

State Has a Birthday. New Jersey celebrated its Tercentenary with special fireworks July 4. Around 10,000 people converged on Blawenburg in a "Wally Byam Rally," their 3,000 aluminum-sided trailers gleaming in the summer sunshine.

In Princeton, the need for a community swimming pool was, once again this '64 summer, debated. The Princeton High School choir made its first trip to Europe, and TOWN TOPICS' "Question of the Week" was "What do you think of the new topless bathing suits?" Answers were predictably divided by sex.

The Princeton Freedom Center was soliciting money for students who had gone to Mississippi to teach Negroes their voting rights and urge them to register. A memorial service was held in First (Nassau) Presbyterian Church for three civil rights workers slain in Mississippi.

Princeton University admitted 13 "American Negroes" to its freshman class of 800.

A reception was planned for Princeton's new librarian, Robert Staples. One of his first acts had been to close the library because of 96-degree heat. The library at that time was in Bainbridge house, defiantly un-airconditioned. The building now houses the Historical Society of Princeton.

Beatles on the Scene. The community was commenting on the "sparkling debut" of the new Princeton Regional Ballet Company. Peter Sellers in "A Shot in the Dark" was at the Playhouse, the Beatles in "A Hard Day's Night" at the Garden, and before the movies–people hadn't quite gotten used to saying "film"–you may have eaten a 49-cent-a-pound rib roast, sipped 75-cent-a-pound coffee, and discussed buying a four-bedroom Cape Cod for $23,000.

Some things never change: Alan Frank of Langrock's president of the Chamber of Commerce, was protesting the parking problems of Princeton's business district.

Some things do change: the long-range planning report for the Township schools was published in 1964. Two years later, Borough and Township school systems merged.

1960. "It hurts to grow," was TOWN TOPICS' headline on the 1960 Township Master Plan story. A loop linking Terhune to Province Line, a $21,000 sewer along Rosedale, a new bridge on Mercer--sound familiar?

"Everyone in the state highway department now agrees a 206 by-pass is necessary. This was not true a year ago," declared Borough Mayor Raymond F. Male. Twenty years later.....

Gov. Robert Meyner was the Democrats' "favorite son." The New Jersey delegation's task, TOWN TOPICS wrote, is to see how fast the Kennedy bandwagon is rolling. That was, of course, John Kennedy, and a "Question of the Week" was, "Can Kennedy be stopped?"

(Another "Question of the Week" that summer–"Do you approve of women wearing shorts on Nassau Street?"

Rockefeller and Nixon. Anne Martindell, a prominent Democrat for many years, belonged to a "Citizens for Rockefeller" group back in '60. Its chairman was James Sayen, who later asked his "Citizens" to throw their support to the Republican candidate, Richard M. Nixon.

A "Stevenson for President Committee" ran an ad with no disclaimer, not a single name. Such advertising today is illegal. A supporter, Wilbur S. Howell, declared in a "Mailbox" letter that "Stevenson alone is qualified."

In the primary–held in April at that time--Stevenson received more write-in votes than any candidate--59. Kennedy got five, Rockefeller received 18 and Nixon won 12.

Census figures showed the Township had doubled its population since 1950. Krushchev had declared that a Democratic president would be a requirement toward a successful summit meeting, and Princeton residents pondered the remark to TOWN TOPICS "Question" reporter. They didn't like the idea of somebody in another country telling them how to vote.

A five-bedroom house with three bathrooms and a two-car garage was $45,000. It matched the 57-cent coffee and the 79-cent T-bone. And also the three percent interest on your savings.

Man Who Was "Talking to the Lord" Drives Car into Pole on Mercer St. at 50 M.P.H.

THE DRIVER SURVIVED: This 1969 Ford was reduced to scrap metal last Friday morning after it veered off Mercer Street at an estimated 50 miles per hour, uprooted a traffic sign, richocheted off several trees, and finally came to rest 632 feet from the point where it left the road. The car was taken away by a wrecker and a flat-bed truck. The driver, David M. Brischler Jr., 22, of Trenton, was admitted to the hospital with cuts on his hand, forehead, and scalp. Police said Mr. Brischler told them he was "confused" and had been "talking to the Lord" prior to the crash.

I was talking to the Lord and put my foot all the way to the floor, took my hands off the steering wheel and folded my arms, closed my eyes, and told the Lord to do with me what He wished.

Fortunately for 22-year-old David M. Brischler Jr. of Trenton, the Lord or whoever else watches over motor vehicle accidents was smiling Friday morning at 10:42.

That was when the car being driven by Mr. Brischler east on Mercer Street, careened off the right side of the roadway east of Lovers Lane, traveled 588 feet along the embankment, uprooted a non-parking sign, struck a tree trunk, was airborne for 29½ feet, smashed into another tree on the east side of the driveway at 180 Mercer Street, and then came to rest against a utility pole.

The Princeton First Aid Squad extricated Mr. Brischler from the car, and transported him to the Medical Center, where he was examined by Dr. Frank Sparrow and admitted for surgery.

Patrolman Bernard C. Lenhardt investigated and reported that when Mr. Brischler was admitted to the hospital he was unidentified and had only a social security card in his possession. He responded to inquiries by saying only that "Jesus saves" and "Jesus is right."

By Monday afternoon, when Patrolman Lenhardt interviewed him, Mr. Brischler was walking on his own. He had suffered severe cuts of his right hand and forehead and scalp, which required skin grafting, but had been moved off the "serious" list. He was discharged on Tuesday.

"He's Fortunate."

Patrolman Lenhardt took the careless driving and failure to have his driver's license in his possession. That charge was dropped Tuesday when the license was found in the glove compartment of the car, after it had been cut open with a torch.

He's a fortunate young man," said Patrolman Lenhardt, "but I'm not sure he knows that." The officer said that the victim was not wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident. "If he was he probably would be dead."

When the car struck the last tree the impact forced the steering wheel back against the front seat, where the driver would have been if he had been held in place by a belt. Patrolman Lenhardt theorized that the victim's body shifted while the car was airborne. He was found trapped on top of the dashboard.

Speed Estimated at 50. A witness to the crash, Edward Read of 31 Greenhouse Lane, was walking westward on Mercer Street, when he saw the victim's car pass another car before heading off the roadway. He estimated the speed at 50 miles per hour.

Five firemen were summoned to the scene as a precaution because of gasoline leaking from the car. Police reported that the car also damaged trees, shrubs, and flowers at the home of Robert Whitman, 180 Mercer Street.

statement quoted above. "I am confused about right and wrong," the officer quoted the victim as saying. "I was awake for three days and had not food." Patrolman Lenhardt added that Mr. Brischler told him he had been involved with drugs while serving in the Marine Corps and that for five days prior to the accident he had experienced the smell of LSD.

The police took blood samples from Mr. Brischler to determine the presence of intoxicants. The samples have been sent to a laboratory for analysis. Mr. Brischler was charged with reckless and

By Township Committee. Township Committee will put off until after it has moved into the Valley Road school building a decision on whether or not to ban smoking at its meetings.

Mayor Josie Hall made the announcement at last Wednesday night's extra session in response to a letter received from Abraham and Lucille Fuchs of Balsam Lane who had asked for the ban. The Fuchs are members of GASP, Group Against Air Pollution.

Mayor Hall noted that not only do three out of five members of Committee smoke, but so do members of the staff and the audience. She said she hopes that a room near the main meeting room at the Valley Road Building could be designated a smoking room, but she thought it "unfair" not to allow Committee and audience members smoking breaks during long evening meetings. Banning smoking io the present Township meeting room, or permitting it at the doorway would not work, she felt.

Work is proceding apace on the refurbishing of the Valley Road school building so that Committee and the municipal offices are expected to be able to move in shortly after Labor Day. Committee introduced an ordinance to appropriate $161,500 as a supplement to the $438,500 appropriated last October for the renovations.

The additional funds, which bring the whole project to $600,000, are required for roof repair, furniture and furnishings and improvements to the audio-visual area which were not included in the original estimate and ordinance. Mayor Hall said she hoped the move would be a long-term one and that Committee would be able to renew its present 10-year contract with the Board of Education.

The public hearing for the ordinance adding to the Valley Road renovation appropriation will be on September 3, as will an ordinance appropriating $2,000 for the reconstruction of the recycling shed in Princeton Shopping Center.

"Special Events" Law. Committee spent most of its session last Wednesday discussing regulations governing the holding of events that use major Township thoroughfares, such as marathons, jogathons, wolkathons and soap box derbies. The "special events ordinance," as it is called, is the result of the large number of requests for benefits which use public streets and require police protection and traffic control.

I wrote a poem
On the heat.
It had the right
Amount of feet
And now and then
A rhyme.
Why should I write
Another verse
On weather which is Just as worse
As when I wrote
Last time?

All forecasts agree that more heat is on the way—with the only disagreement over when a real break will come. The most pessimistic outlook claims it may be this way for most of August.

Showers are virtually a daily possibility as long as these conditions last. No wonder they're known as "dog days."

The ordinance would require the sponsor of such an event to request a permit from the Chief of Police who makes the decision as to whether or not it shall be granted. It also requires a fee of $50 and proof of insurance indemnification. Committeeman William Cherry cast the single nay vote against introduction on the grounds that "the ordinance goes farther than I think it should go." Public hearing will be on September 10.

Committee also spent some time discussing improvements to the Stony Brook stream bed at the Mercer Road bridge to make a better channel through which water can flow. The historic stone bridge has three rather small "barrels" or arches through which water flows. Over the years silt has built up on the upstream side, and a whole island has formed with trees growing on it that further impedes the stream flow.

In periods of high water, water dams up behind the bridge and floods out over the surrounding land. After receiving numerous complaints from the Mercer Road neighbor most affected, Township referred the matter to the county and state, both of which denied resposibility for the problem.

Along with designing a better realignment for the Mercer Road automobile approaches to the bridge, the Township eogineer's office drew up plans for the Stony Brook channel improvements which have received approval from the DEP. The improvements involve extensive dredging and shoring up the stream banks to preveot further erosion. The project was estimated at $78,000, and that amount was ordinanced, but the lowest bid came in at $137,000 and the highest at over $200,000.

The engineer was asked to review the project and specifications, which he was able to reduce by $13,000, but a supplemeotal appropriation was needed. Mayor Josie Hall voted against the measure, because she was concerned about the high cost, particularly the line item for top soil and seeding.

Committee has cancelled all three meetiogs in August because of the lack of a quorum.

CASH, CHECKS STOLEN

In Hospital Heist. Two young men, one armed with a handgun, held up the cashier at the Princeton Medical Center Sunday afternoon, locked her into the vault, and made off with a bank deposit bag containing between $1,000 and $1,500 in cash and about $12,000 worth of checks payable to the Medical Center.

Both of the robbers were described as black, in their early 20s, around six feet in height. One was wearing a light brown sports jacket, tan slacks, and a beige straw hat. The other was reported to be wearing light brown sports clothing.

Det. Sgt. Thomas Michaud is investigating.

The robbery occurred at around 3:55 p.m. when the cashier, who was counting money, saw one man crouched in the doorway leading into the cashier's room. He was aiming a gun in her direction.

Police said that the men stuck a pillow case over her head and then directed her into the vault. She later told police she heard the men going through drawers. When they left, she yelled and banged on the door to attract

The president of the Friends is Sanford B. Bing, head of the upper school at Princeton Day School. The vice-president is Betty A. Cleveland, who has been active in the Princeton schools Parent Teacher Organization. John H. Dumont, treasurer, is a Princeton attorney whose wife, Miles, is a member of the Joint Recreation Board. Christopher S. Tarr, secretary, is also a Princeton lawyer and is active in the Jaycees.

Directors are Linda V. Corlette, Florence Desmond, Deborah C. Dix, Harleston Hall, Jr., Nancy B. Henkel, Samuel C. Howell, Anne B. Humes, John McCarthy, John J. Pesce, V. James Pirone, Barbara B. Smoyer, Phillips B. Van Dusen and George A. Vaughn.

Prospective members are invited to make out checks to Friends of Princeton Community Recreation, and send them to the group at P.O. Box 1154, Princeton, NJ.

HAVING A BALL: Something for the playgrounds this summer, and community use anytime—that's the big 36-inch ball purchased by the Princeton Recreation Department with money from the new Friends of Princeton Community Recreation. R. Donald Barr, recreation director, tosses it back and forth—sort of—with Deborah Dix and Anne Humes, directors of the Friends. (Betty Cleveland Photo)

Yes, the main pool has "warmed up some," he concedes, but the diving pool is still cool. Tennis, on the other hand, is languishing.

"Many people," Mr. Barr says with a straight face, "are not playing tennis in mid-day."

The decline is useful. The nine fast-dry courts aren't available for play anyway because they are being converted to "cushioned" hard-surface courts (ready by October) and the drop in tennis court use comes at a convenient time.

More people are playing at night than in 1979, Mr. Barr reports, probably because word has gotten around that the lights are there. In about a month, night basketball can be played on the Community Park School court. This week, concrete footings were poured for the new lights.

At Science Associates, where weather is a business, they are philosophical. As one staff member shrugged, "It's August."

Robbers Just in Time. The robbers appeared on the scene shortly before the cashier completed duties for the day. If they had arrived much later, the office would have been closed, and the money and checks deposited in the vault, which would have been locked.

Hospital spokesman Michael Loyack said that the Medical Center is fully insured against the losses.

THREE CHARGES FILED Against Township Resident. Roland Glover, 30, of 34 Red Oak Row, was charged with driving while intoxicated, resisting arrest, and hindering apprehension after an incident that occurred in the early morning hours Saturday.

Patrolmen Anthony Gaylord and Jack Petrone Jr. reported that they observed Mr. Glover driving in an erratic manner on Ewing Street. When the officers signalled with their emergency lights, the car driven by Mr. Glover sped away on Bunn Drive, at speeds approaching 70 miles per hour, they said.

"The subject had to be physically subdued," said Township Chief Frederick Porter. "He refused to take a

NO ONE'S IMMUNE

From Fire Damage. Former Princeton Fire Chief William H. Karch, who has spent more than his share of time fighting fires, discovered one in his own driveway last Sunday at 7:53 p.m.

A fire that may have been fueled by leaking propane gas raced through an Airstream travel trailer parked in the former chief's driveway. The fire was intense enough to burn a hole through the roof of the trailer. Patrolman Peter Savalli investigated.

THE CLOSING: The Rev. Jesse Owens puts pen to papers entitling the Nassau Christian Center to full ownership of the church building at the corner of Nassau and Chambers Streets. With him are (standing) John Roberts and Jay Thatcher secretary and attorney, respectively, for Nasseu Christian Center; and Wailece Alston, senior minister of Nassau Presbyterian Church. Seated et right is Margaret Link, president of the Naasau Presbyterian Church corporation, the seller. Story on Page 19.

TRESPASSING CHARGED

Men Found on Roof. Responding to a complaint called in by a Nassau Street resident, police arrested a man they found on a second floor roof at 3 a.m. on Sunday.

Robert Koether, 22, of 3 Eaat Acre Drive, Pennington, was charged with criminal trespassing by Borough police. He was released after posting one-tenth of the bail set at $500. Police Captain Theodore Lewis said that the the complainant was a former girlfriend of the defendent.

I SOUGHT, I CAUGHT

In Shoplifting Cases. A 24 mm. lens for a Pentax camera was taken from the University Store on Thursday morning. A clerk reported showing the lens, valued at $176.95, to a customer. After the customer had inspected several lenses he left the store. One lens was missing.

Police described the customer as a man in his late 30s, about 5-feet-6 inches tall, and weighing 140 pounds. He had short grey hair, and was wearing a blue suit and striped shirt.

In an unrelated-shoplifting incident, police charged Isaac T. Love, 18, of 93 Lawn Park Avenue, Lawrenceville, with shoplifting $1.43 worth of lunch meat from the Wawa market on University Place. He was arrested on Monday.

YOU NAME IT ...

... Theft Report Has It. Let's begin with purses. One was stolen from a Hamilton Avenue resident around 10:30 p.m. July 30. At that hour the resident heard a front door slam but assumed it was a renter. The next morning police returned her purse to her. It had been found on Wheatsheaf Lane. It was missing $2 in cash.

Another purse was stolen the next day, between 6:15 and 6:30 p.m. from a desk in Marquand Library of McCormick Hall. The purse contained a tan leather wallet, valued at $40, along with $40 in cash.

Another day, another purse. On August 1 a Princeton resident left hers in her car parked behind the laundromat by Viking Furniture on Nassau Street. It was taken at about 11:20 p.m. The handbag was valued at $80. It contained $30 in cash.

Most readers by now can fill in for themselves the last phrase in the following item: an Autumn Hill Road resident, swimming at Community Park Pool between 4 and 5 last Saturday afternoon, left her wallet, containing $31 in cash, in a swimming bag on a picnic table. When the swimmer returned...

A Clue: Patrolman Robert Buchanan is investigating.

Recliner, 'Equalizer.' A University student living at the Princeton Inn College reported that someone entered his room between July 10 and August 1. Stolen were a recliner, worth $360, a power drill, $7.77, and a gadget called a "stereo equalizer," said to be valued at $150.

A car was parked on Dodds Lane between 7:15 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. on July 29. When the owner returned four chrome wheel covers were missing. Their value was estimated at

Judge Moore Reserves Decision on David Logan, Charged with June 1978 Murder of Rachael Bull

Twenty-eight year old David Logan of South Amboy, charged with the June 15, 1979 electrocution murder of Princeton High School senior Rachael Bull, was tried last week in Trenton before Superior Court Judge A. Jerome Moore.

Judge Moore reserved decision until a later date after two psychiatrists, the only witnesses during the four-hour, non-jury trial, testified that Logan is mentally ill.

Dr. Robert F. Sadoff, who appeared for the prosecution, and Dr. Irwin Perr for the defense both agreed that Logan is suffering from "chronic undifferentiated schizophrenia." A former mental patient, Logan is seeking acquittal on the grounds of insanity. He is presently being held without bail at Trenton Psyciatric Hospital.

Miss Bull was found by Township police tied, face down, to her bed in her home at 294 Mt. Lucas Road. A shirt had been pulled over her face and tied around her head. On either side of her nude body, police found burn marks where Logan had allegedly applied the bare ends of a lamp cord he had severed.

At the trial, a report by Baltimore forensic psychiatrist Dr. Jonas Rappeport was submitted by the state as evidence. Dr. Rappeport stated that if Logan is hospitalized after being found not guilty by reason of insanity it is doubtful -- because of the severity of his mental illness -- that he will ever be released from the hospital.

Judge Moore, who will have to decide Logan's guilt or innocence, said that he would submit a written decision at a later date. Neither Logan's public defender, Dennis Kuroishi, nor First Assistant Prosecutor, Robert A. Farkas, made any arguments at the trial.

At the trial, Logan had also been charged with attempted murder, atrocious assault and battery and breaking and entering in connection with the alleged assault in April, 1977 of an East Windsor woman.

In that incident, Logan admitted he had cut an electrical cord before entering her Northgate Apartment bedroom but the victim, although injured, was able to fight him off.

Logan, who was under psychiatric care at the time of Miss Bull's murder, has had a history of attacks on women. He told doctors at the Norristown, Pa. Sate Hospital where he was confined for two years that he has fantasies of torturing women. He was released because his mental illness had appeared to be in remission.

On the day of the Bull murder, three days before her graduation, Logan was married and an unemployed television repair man. He told police that he had randomly stopped at her house after seeing her in her back yard. He confronted her with the replica of a German pistol, ordered her inside the house, past her 16-year old brother who was playing records and who assumed that Logan was her friend.

When police, answering a 2:20 call, arrived, Logan tried to flee out the rear door. His way was blocked by Det. Frank Boccanfuso. He ran back inside the house and tried to escape out a side door – into the arms of Lt. Norman Servis. "Call an ambulance. The girl needs help," he told the officer.

Police and First Aid workers tried to revive Miss Bull, but there was no response. She was pronounced dead at 3:10 by Dr. Thomas Cortelyou.

$100 apiece. Another car, owned by a Mercer Street resident, was parked in a Theological Seminary lot from 2 p.m. July 30 to 8 a.m. the next day. Five gallons of gasoline were siphoned.

The staff of the Regional Planning Board, which has been swamped with paperwork in recent months, arrived at work August 1 to find that a clock radio had been stolen from the office at the Valley Road School. The radio was worth $110.

Police received reports last week of several thefts which had occurred in the past month. A Littlebrook Road resident reported the theft of a cassette recorder from the house, which had been vacant the last week in June. A Prospect Avenue resident reported the theft of a propane gas grill from an unlocked garage. The grill was last noticed in June. And Princeton University security officials said that someone had carried off a microphone and a chrome chair from an office in Palmer Hall. The chair had not been seen since May.

TRAFFIC FINES LEVIED

In Borough Court, Motorists charged with a variety of offenses appeared in Borough Court Monday. Among the cases resolved were the following:

James Litton, 8 Carnation Place, Lawrenceville, fined $20 for failure to make inspection repairs; Kay Monkhouse, 16 Crooked Tree Lane, $22, speeding; Doris Calhoun, Fairview Road, Skillman, $21, speeding; Jeffrey B. Suber, 168 Guyot Avenue, $24, speeding; David S. Rosendorf, 2 Suffolk Lane, Princeton Junction, $20, overdue inspection; and Curry H. Simmel, 3 Burton Avenue, Hopewell, $21, speeding.

Also William S. Greenberg, 164 Hunt Drive, $25, speeding; Katherine M. Laity, 66 Herrontown Road, $22, speeding; Linda J. Kirschner, 60 Pine Knoll Drive, Lawrenceville, $25, speeding; Michael K. Root, Fairview Road, Skillman, $24, speeding; Albert C. Barclay III, 77 Adams Drive, $25, speeding; and Cathy M. Crane, 310 White Pine Apartments, Lawrenceville, $35 for disregarding a traffic signal and failure to possess her driver's license.

News Of The THEATRES

'THE RIVALS'

At Open Air. Washington didn't cross the Delaware to see a show, but "The Rivals," due at the Open Air Theatre in Washington Crossing next week, is reported to have been one of the General's favorite plays, so its production at this site has a certain appropriateness.

Richard Brinsley Sheridan's classic will open next Thursday, August 14, playing through Saturday. It will be given again the following week-end on August 21 and 22, with rain dates on Sunday, August 17, and Saturday, August 23.

"The Rivals" is the one that has Mrs. Malaprop, with all her enchaoting distortions of the English language. She will be played in this production by Valerie Walton.

Lydia Languish will be played by Judy Petrozzini, a student in the advanced acting program at Rutgers. A Rutgers colleague, Sidney Pitts, will play the bumptious Bob Acres. Charles West, a former professional actor, will portray the irascible old scoundrel, Sir Anthony Absolute.

Others in the cast are Susan Tapper, Bob Grayce, Eric Metz, Kim Ducko Williamson, Jim Price, Lee Harrod, Malcolm Butler, Scott Roberts and Marion Sanders.

Hal Hogstrom, professor of theatre at Trenton State, is the director. His most recent Open Air offering was "Arms and the Man," in 1978. Sets, employing architectural elements of the Georgian period, have been designed by Jan Applebaum. Marie Miller, who is in charge of costumes at McCarter Theatre, has designed the costumes.

will begin this Wednesday and continue through Sunday.

"Network," which will be shown complete and uncut (it was cut for recent television screening), is Paddy Chayevsky's wickedly funny attack on American life as expressed in the workings of a television network.

The late Peter Finch plays the mad newscaster; William Holden is the old-fashioned newshound; Faye Dunaway is one of the new young executive whiz kids; Robert Duvall is the corporate hatchet-man. "Network" won four Oscars in 1976; Chayevsky's screen play, and the performances of Dunaway (best actress); Finch (best actor) and Beatrice Straight, who plays Holden's wife (best supporting actress).

Moving on to the second feature, we find the 1972 British comedy "The Ruling Class," adapted by Peter Barnes from his own play of the same name.

Described by McCarter as "daring and very English," it attacks the English class system, and the comic conventions that have grown up around it in plays and movies. Peter O'Toole (he won an Oscar in this role) plays the 14th Earl of Gurney, who believes he is either a reincarnation of Christ or Jack the Ripper. Harry Andrews plays the 13th Earl of Gurney who hangs himself accidentally; Arthur Lowe is the Old Family Retainer; Alistair Sim is a dotty bishop and William Mervyn is the 13th Earl's brother. Fun for all.

CIRCUS IS COMING

To Shopping Center. The Great American Circus will visit Princeton on Friday, August 15, for two performances at 5:30 and 8 under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce.

The circus will be unloaded at the north end of the Princeton Shopping Center between 7 and 8 a.m., and the big top will be pulled into the air by elephants between 9 and 10. A European or "Continental" type circus, it features performing artists presented in single acts in a single ring, or on a single stage, accompanied by live music.

A herd of performing elephants, led by "Myrtle," the largest elephant on tour, will lead off a varied menagerie. In addition to animals, the circus will feature variety acts, pretty girls and funny clowns.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce are now conducting an advanced sale of reduced price tickets. Children's tickets are $2.50 and adults $3.50. Prices at the circus grounds will be 50 cents higher per ticket.

Tickets are available at Allen's and Hinkson's on Nassau Street; Punchinello and Titles Unlimited in the Princeton Shopping Center, and C&M Toy Store in the Village Shopper, Rocky Hill.

Original and Thought Provoking Theme of "Mound Builders" Well Handled by Excellent Cast at Princeton Summer Theatre

Archaeologists don't often have plays written about them. Lanford Wilson, however, makes them central to his play, "The Mound Builders," which Princeton Summer Theatre is presently showing at Murray Theatre on the University campus.

The stereotyped picture of an archaeologist as a dusty dry scientist with his nose buried in the past won't survive a viewing of this play. Archaeologists, we find, have wives, children (actual and expected), family strain, unwelcome relatives, difficult landlords, and societal pressures that threaten their cherished projects. Like all of us, they yield to unbridled joy when a longed-for dream comes true; and they are subject to sudden shattering disaster like other human beings.

Before going into specific detail, I shall venture a capsule judgment of "The Mound Builders": original theme, thought-provoking play, difficult to pick up all the threads through a long first act, builds to an emotionally powerful climax. And well acted.

The locale is an exploration into mounds of the Mississippian culture in southern Illinois. Heading the project are Professor August Howe and his assistant, Dr. Dan Loggins.

In Supporting Roles. Living with them in a rented farmhouse close to the dig are their wives and August's 11-year old daughter Kirsten. Cynthia Howe is photographer to the group. Jean Loggins, a gynecologist by profession and pregnant with her first child, is new to archaeology but an interested helper.

While some friction exists between August and Cynthia, the lives of these five people are unlikely to erupt into drama without the presence of two other characters. One is August's sister, Delia (or D.K.) Eriksen, a failed novelist who has drifted haphazardly around many corners of the world, finally to be shipped out of a Cleveland hospital to recuperate in a reluctant brother's household. Cynicism is her way of life. She claims to be "beating the bushes for something to believe in," but doesn't seem to be working very hard at it.

CATALYST OF THE ACTION: Brien Jones, as Chad Jasker, plays a key role in "The Mound Builders," now on stage in Murray Theatre.

Ultimately more disturbing is Chad Jasker, 25-year old son of the owner of the house and land where the archaeologists are working. Chad is often with the group -- sexually attracted to both wives, vaguely curious about the progress of the digging, although his real enthusiasm is for the commercial bonanza he foresees as a result of the rising lake and planned interstate highway which will eventually obliterate the site of the mounds. Chad and Dan Loggins have formed an easy friendship in which fishing and drinking are favored occupatinns.

In watching "The Mound Builders" mental alertness is recommended, at least until one has become accustomed to the pace and rhythm of events. The play begins with August Howe spotlighted in his Urbana study, dictating to a tape recorder his reflections on the previous summer's work. Colored slides thrown on the back wall illustrate his words. As the action shifts to the main room of the farmhouse, we see the summer's events unfolding. Blackouts lead to different scenes or return us momentarily to the professor's study.

A Degree of Confusion. Much of the dialogue is rapid-fire and speakers' sentences are often only half finished or interrupted. New thoughts claim attention before old ones are completed.

It is very natural dialogue but potentially confusing. Topics don't stay on one track. When we think we are about to learn more about the Mississippi mound builders, Cynthia and Jean start discussing the philosophy of pregnancy, or Dan and Delia reminisce about supreme days of intoxication in their respective pasts, or Chad and Dan return from a wet nocturnal fishing trip and celebrate at riotous length charmed by the aphorism, "Whiskey on beer, Never fear."

If the first act is picturesquely discursive, the second drives straight through the euphoric finding of the relics of a god-king to the unexpected, devastating conclusion. In deference to the mood of the end of the play the cast elected to take no curtain call: the actors' pictures thrown on the screen serve as a substitute.

This challenging play Christopher Baumer has directed with great fluidity of movement. His six adult characters are all strongly individualized.

Major Role for Ted Horton. Ted Horton plays Dan Loggins with robust enthusiasm. After

Six Items Township No Longer Needs Will Be Auctioned to Highest Bidder

Need a roller? A Jeep? Or a metal lathe?

Spring cleaning in the Township garage uncovered six items for which the Township has no use and is planning to make available to the highest bidder. For sale are:

- A 14-ton gallion roller, hardly used.
- A 1947 Jeep, not in very good condition.
- A 1975 Catalina Pontiac, former car of the Township engineer.

- Two lawn mowers, one a Springfield Garden rotary mower, 6 hp, electric starter; the other an Eclipse reel mower, 32", 8 hp.
- South Bend metal lathe with a bed length of 3½ feet, given to the Township by a resident and hardly used.

All items will be sold "as is," says Joseph R. Nini, Administrator.

seeing him in secondary parts in the season's first two plays, it is a joy to have him at center stage, embodying love of his work, his wife, his fun and life in general.

Molly Hickok also steps up from previous supporting roles to the meaty part of D.K., which she handles with confidence and enjoyment. Cinny Strickland, released from playing aged harridans and comic beldames, is youthfully attractive as Cynthia. Laurie Woolfe, the sorcerer's wordless apprentice a few weeks ago, does well with the speaking part of Kirsten.

Featured for the third time this season, Leonard Galla is restrainedly strong as August, the excavation's responsible leader. Brian Jones gives an exciting performance as Chad, revealing both his mental limitations and the animalistic power that drives him. As Jean Loggins, Kellie Easterling again shows her gift for seeming utterly natural on stage. Movements, posture, timing and expression all contribute to the effect. Unfortunately her love of naturalness tends to affect her voice, so that too often her words fail to reach the audience.

The serviceable set is by Kellie Easterling and Ed Tuck, the lighting design by Malcolm Sturchio. Four performances of "The Mound Builders" remain, this Thursday through Sunday at 8 p.m. There will be no Sunday matinee.

FUND FOR MISS LUDLUM

Accident Victim. Contributions to The Ludlum Fund at the Princeton Public Library may be made in memory of Katherine A. Ludlum, 20, who died July 29 in Burlington, Vt., of injuries sustained in an automobile accident July 24.

The Fund was established in 1962 by Miss Ludlum's parents, David and Rita Ludlum, in gratitude to Mrs. Courtland Perkins, who had rescued Katherine's brother, 7-year-old David Ludlum, Jr., from the January waters of Lake Carnegie.

Young David and a friend, Michael Peters, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Landon Peters, 72 Knoll Drive, had been playing on the lake ice. The ice had already begun to break up and the two boys fell in. Mrs. Perkins, who lived at that time at 621 Lake Drive, heard David's cries for help and crawled to his resuce on hands and knees across 12 feet of cracking ice. The Peters boy was lost.

In the 18 years since that time, the Fund has been sustained by the Ludlum family, but Mr. Ludlum said this week that contributions from others would be welcome. Money has been used for subscriptions to American Heritage and Horizon magazines, and to buy books related to science and the environment. It is expected that future purchases will also reflect the interests of Miss Ludlum.

Checks should be made payable to The Ludlum Fund and sent to the Prioceton Public Library.

A memorial mass for Miss Ludlum was celebrated Friday in the Aquinas Institute Chapel, Stockton Street and Library Place. Private burial was held in Princeton Cemetery under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Miss Ludlum attended Princeton High School and

How we made Bell System Yellow Pages advertising 21% more effective.

One reason for the success of your 1979 advertising program was our advertising program.

A study conducted in New Jersey by a major independent research organization showed that usage of the Bell System Yellow Pages increased 21% in 1979.*

That means if you were a Bell System Yellow Pages advertiser, your ad program could have been 21% more effective than the previous year.

So what can you expect in 1980?

More of the same.

Because we'll be using, basically, the same ads in 1980.

"100% noted.
53% likelihood of remembrance.
56% unaided recall."

"All four ads tested were high performers in terms of establishing top of mind awareness."

"Nearly total understanding of at least one major message."

"Main idea communication was immediate and powerful."

They'll be running in major newspapers circulated throughout the state. Plus, for the first time, in six consumer magazines in New Jersey. Where the ads will be even more effective because they'll run in four-color.

Again in 1980, we'll be supplementing our print campaign with a statewide outdoor advertising campaign that ties in with something that everybody is worried about these days.

The gas crisis.

Now that you've heard about our ad program for 1980, what about your ad program?

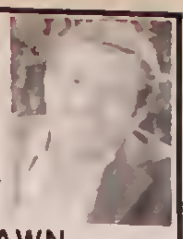
LET'S TALK ABOUT



LAWN RENOVATION

with Sam DeTuro

Woodwinds Associates

If your lawn needs work this year, start thinking about it soon! Late August and early September are the very best times to seed or renovate poor areas

One of the major reasons for failure in turf growth is the selection of improper varieties to begin with. when selecting lawn grasses, avoid bargain mixtures, and always select certified seed when available

Kentucky Bluegrasses and Fine Fescues are the primary lawn grasses in New Jersey, although improved Perennial Ryegrasses have been quite successful as well

BLUEGRASSES thrive in conditions of cool temperatures, good drainage and sufficient moisture, so growth slows and turf becomes brown in hot, dry weather

FINE FESCUES, on the other hand, can tolerate dry, infertile soil, and sun or partial shade

PERENNIAL RYEGRASSES grow quickly, and tolerate a wide range of growing conditions

Important things to remember are:

Removing thatch to allow better penetration of water,

Application of lime to improve soil structure,

Cutting at a mower height of approximately two inches to conserve moisture;

Use of a good, all-purpose insecticide to control as wide a range of lawn insects as possible,

Careful and timely use of a good fertilizer

A vigorous, healthy lawn will not only give you the pleasure of seeing and enjoying its green expanse, but it can substantially reduce temperatures and act as nature's air conditioner!

Capsules for Storing One's Medical History In Case of Emergency Are Now Available Here

More than 200 capsules have been distributed during the second phase of the Emergency Medical Information Project, operating in Princetoo for senior citizens and disabled persons or those with chronic health problems.

The initial program was introduced to the community a year ago under the direction of Sgt. Thomas Michaud, Borough police. Since then, P.B.A. Local 130 purchased an additional 400 vials, and the program is being republicized to reach those who may have missed it initially. In addition, tax bill inserts were sent out to all Borough and Township residents to remind seniors to pick up their vials. The Joint Commission on Aging paid for printing the inserts.

The vials contain an information sheet on which the person notes his medical history, including doctor's name and phone, any medications, any health problems. The data is then placed inside the vial which is placed in the refrigerator. An EMI decal is placed on the outside of the refrigerator door so that in the event of an emergency, resuce personnel can spot it and know that life-saving information is handily available.

"The refrigerator is used because everyone has one," explained Dorothy J. Kruger, director of social services, spokeswoman for the program. "Many times, during stress, it is difficult if not impossible for the stricken person or even those around him to speak coherently enough to be able to state what the problem is, who the doctor is, where he is located, what medications are being taken, etc. This way, the information is stored uniformly and retrieved, when needed, swiftly."

The vials which are free to Princeton seniors and the disabled, may be picked up at Borough and Township police and welfare offices, the Senior Resource Center, Health Department, Paul Robeson Center, Public Library and at Recording for the Blind.

10TH CONFERENCE SET

For Tennis Teachers. The United States Tennis Association's 10th National Tennis Teachers Conference will be held August 27, 28, 29 at the Roosevelt Hotel in New York City, coinciding with the first days of the U.S. Open Championship. To date, participants from 33 states and 10 foreign countries are registered.

This year's Conference, the 10th anniversary of this event, will feature a teaching staff of 52, considerably more than any previous conference. The full three-day program for teachers, coaches, and professionals will cover topics from yoga to weight training, from biomechanics to microcomputer analysis of tennis. In addition, a full afternoon of programming will deal with teaching tennis to the handicapped.

Special information booths will be staffed with experts to answer questions on facilities, leagues, the National Tennis Rating Program, USTA-Michelob Light League Tennis and teaching seniors. There will be continuous showings of the latest tennis films, including the '79 Wimbledon and U.S. Open, and a new instructional series by Dennis Van der Meer. Exhibitors will demonstrate their teaching aids and equipment to interested conferees.

For the first time, conferees can receive one or two graduate college credits through West Chester State College (Pa). In addition to free continental breakfasts Thursday and Friday mornings, there will be optional, low-cost dutch treat suppers on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. There informal gatherings will provide opportunities for those attending to mingle with the staff.

Participants are the beneficiaries of special room rates at the Roosevelt, room sharing arrangements to minimize costs, and discounts at Feron's 44th Street and National Tennis Center stores. Cassette tapes of the sessions will be offered for sale to conferees only, who will receive Certificates of Attendance and a complimentary copy of the 10th anniversary program.

For registration information, contact the USTA Education & Research Center, 729 Alexander Road, Princeton, or call 452-2580.

SENIORS MAY REGISTER

For MCCC Courses. Registration for senior citizens who wish to enroll in Mercer County Community College courses this fall will take place at the Quakerbridge Mall Community Booth this Wednesday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Residents of Mercer County who are 62 years of age or older are permitted to enroll in both credit and non-credit courses at no charge. Non-county residents may enroll in

WHAT GROVER CLEVELAND CAN TELL YOU ABOUT YOUR ECONOMIC FUTURE

A TIMELY QUOTE FROM THE "PANIC OF 1893"

"At times like the present, when the evils of unsound finance threaten us, the speculator may anticipate a harvest gathered from the misfortune of others, the capitalist may protect himself by hoarding or may even find profit in the fluctuations of values; but the wage earner - the first to be injured by a depreciated currency - is practically defenseless. He relies for work upon the ventures of confident and contented capital. This failing him, his condition is without alleviation, for he can neither prey on the misfortunes of others nor hoard his labor."

This quote is from a message from President Cleveland to a special session of Congress August 8, 1893 and was reprinted by the Wall Street Journal on October 20, 1933 commenting that this passage was particularly timely due to similar problems that occurred during the Great Depression.

This quote from a period in American Economic history known as the "Panic of 1893" is as applicable to the 1980's. President Cleveland's statement is simple. The average American is the first to loose his job in a recession and the last to be hired back after it is over. His savings have always been depleted by inflation and at times he has lost everything. Throughout history he has received the worst of both economic trends.

If you do not look after your own survival don't expect anyone else to. History does repeat. The silver market crash of 1980 was not unique. A silver market crash preceeded the "Panic of 1893" and in 1929-32 it again collapsed. Real estate values plummeted, the stock market crashed by 90 percent and interest rates went from 2.5 percent to over 7 percent and crashed to 1.5 percent while 50 percent of the Banks were forced into bankruptcy. Two of the few things that increased in value while everything was collapsing were coffins and gold.

The key to the future still lies hidden in the past.

Learn more about the facts. If you don't make an effort to protect your future, no one else will.

the day." Women, he added, are doing more and more of the legwork. "They go around from dealer to dealer looking at cars and then tell their husbands--basically--what they want."

One thing he has learned, he says, is that customers want three things: service, service and more service. "I feel that a customer should be treated fairly and honestly and that is what I am going to strive to do."

One way to assure that his customers are satisfied, he feels, expecially in repairs, is to do the job right. ff a customer doesn't want repairs done properly, after his mechanics have ascertained what needs to be done then, says Mr. Peck, "I just won't do it."

Turney Motors to End 43 Years at 255 Nassau; Peck Motors Will Succeed It at Same Location

An old, established business is leaving Princeton the end of this month. The good news is that a new one is waiting to take its place.

After selling and servicing cars since the mid 1930s, Turney Motors is going out of business; a new tenant, however, is waiting to move in–hopefully without the loss of a single day's operation. George Peck, following an 18-year career as sales manager for the Nassau-Conover Motor Company on Route 206, will open Peck Motors in the same Turney building at 255 Nassau Street.

"I'm looking forward to it," says the Princeton-born and raised Peck. "After working for someone else for so long, it will be a challenge to see what I can do for myself."

Peck Motors will offer a full range of automotive service and repair. Mr. Peck says that he has two mechanics with more than 40 years' combined experience--and he stresses the word "experienced." The gas pumps in front will be retained and the front bay for routine grease jobs and oil changes.

"We're going to strive to retain the good reputation Turney Motors had for service, and even make it better," Mr. Peck promised.

At Nassau-Conover, he was responsible for buying, trading and reconditioning used cars and he hopes to capitalize on his expertise in his new business.

"When I go out and look for a used car, if it's not what I think a person will be happy with I'm not going to buy it," he says. His select used cars will carry a full, 100 percent guarantee.

Full Protection. Unlike some so-called 100 percent guarantees which actually, Mr. Peck says, cover only a car's engine, transmission and rear end, his guarantee will include everything from a water pump to a light bulb. "If it fails, we'll replace it," he said.

"Basically, it will be like a new car guarantee, only it won't be as long." Further down the road, he adds, is his desire to obtain a new car franchise.

He grew up on Patton Avenue, just a few blocks from Turney Motors. After graduating from Princeton High School, he worked for several automotive parts firms.

As a result, the 44-year old Peck has had 25 years experience in the automotive field. "It's the only one I've ever known," he said. For the past 15 years, he and his family have lived in a restored brick home in Plainsboro.

NEW ENTREPRENEUR: George Peck will soon open Peck Motors, specializing in used cars, in the former Turney Motors building.

HE'S STAYING: Marty Reef, a car salesman for more than 40 years, will remain as a salesman for Peck Motors.

In His 43d Year. If Turney Motors had become something of an institution on Nassau Street, one who helped make it so was salesman Marty Reef. In a business often known for its high turnover, Mr. Reef has worked for Turney's since 1938. He is going to stay on as a salesman for Peck Motors.

The following that Marty has built up over the years will be a tremendous asset to Peck Motors, concedes George. At the same time, he says he hopes that his own following in the business will help him get started. "I'd like to think after 18 years there are some who are wondering what I'm up to," he said.

Over the years he has witnessed many changes in selling cars, he commented, but the biggest, in his opinion, has been the change in buying habits.

"When I first started, Saturday was traditionally the busy day. And at night. That's changed. Now people buy during the week and during

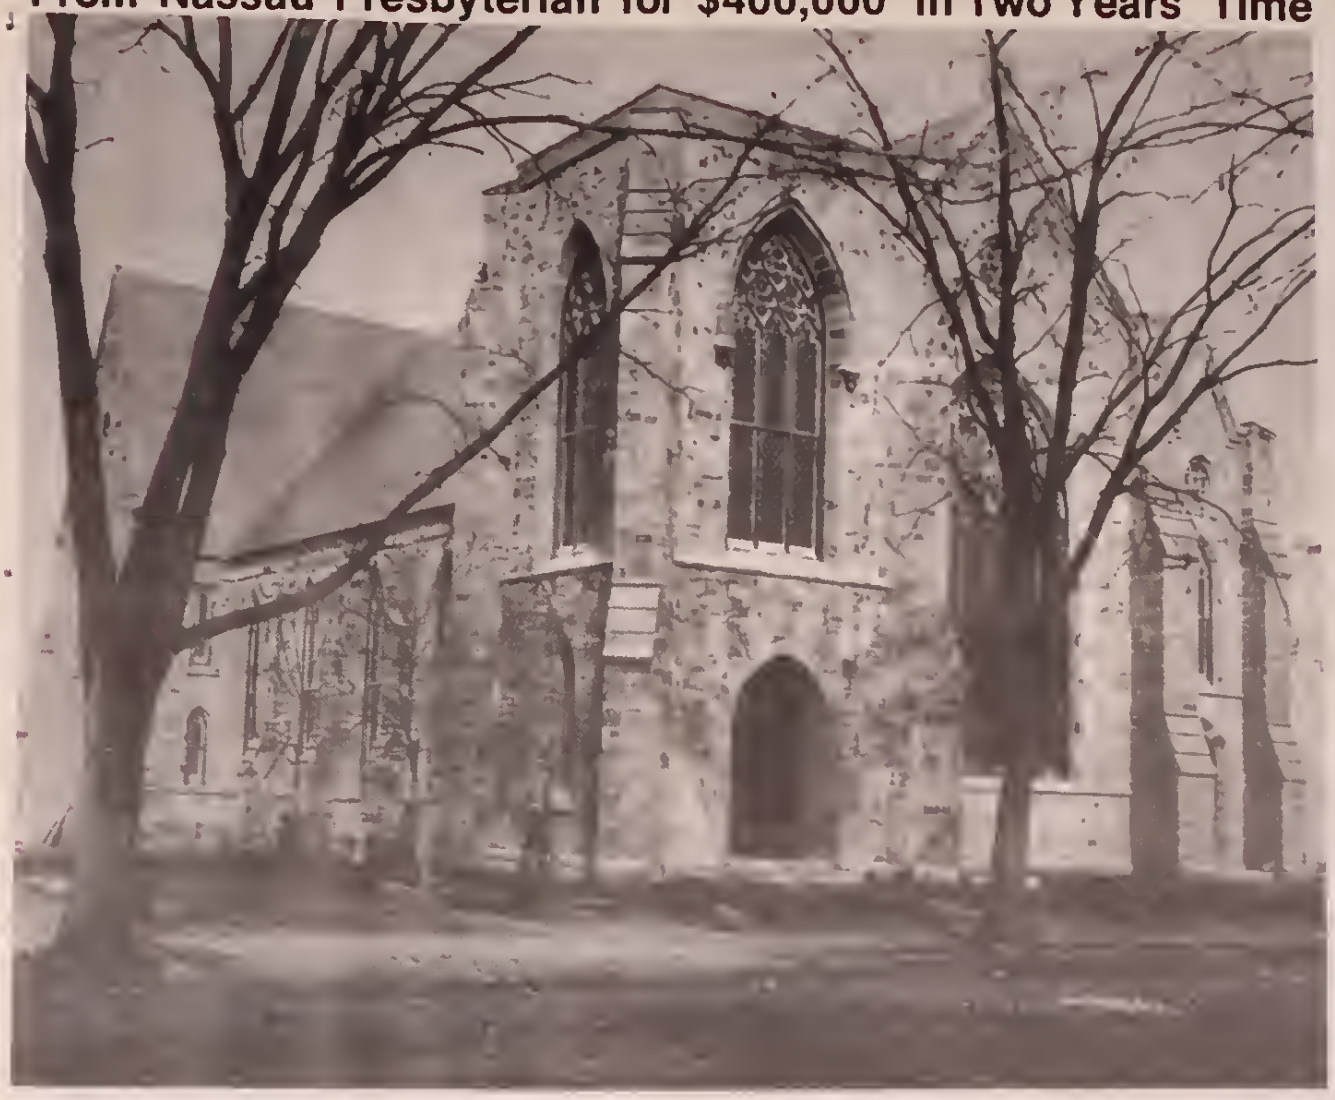
Nassau Christian Center Completes Purchase of St. Andrews From Nassau Presbyterian for $400,000 in Two Years' Time



STILL IN CHURCH USE: This is the way the church at the corner of Nassau and Chambers streets looked at the turn of the century, before Nassau Street was paved. It was the Second Presbyterian Church then, founded by a splinter group who left First Presbyterian Church in 1847 in the wake of a theological dispute. In the mid-1960s, in an effort to shake off the second fiddle image, it was renamed St. Andrew's Church. Performing arts groups coveted it as an arts center when it was placed on sale in 1978. Today it is the Nassau Christian Center, an Assemblies of God Church founded by another splinter group which took title this week and has dreams of erecting a steeple on what looks like an unfinished tower. (Photo courtesy Nassau Christian Center)

Exactly two years to the day after he signed a lease-purchase agreement for St. Andrew's Church on the corner of Nassau and Chambers, the Rev. Jesse Owens completed the purchase by turning over the balance of $350,000 on the agreed-upon price of $400,000 to Nassau Presbyterian Church which owned the building.

"This is a day for me," exclaimed Mr. Owens exultantly. "That beautiful building is ours--all ours!" The title of the church now belongs to Nassau Christian Center, an Assemblies of God church he founded two years ago with a small group of people who broke off from the Christian Center of Princeton on Harrison Street to follow him to Nassau Street.

Part of the $350,000 balance was raised through a "conglomerate" mortgage with the First National Bank and other banks, and the rest came from "the 300 people in this congregation that God has given us," Mr. Owen said. Under the original lease-purchase contract, the balance was due last February, but Nassau Presbyterian Church agreed to an extension.

Nassau Christian Center has been holding worship services in the church since putting up the $50,000 down payment in August, 1978. Mr. Owens says his church is "growing by leaps and bounds." He has instituted a Coffee House on Friday nights which he says is packed with teenagers enjoying free coffee and donuts and listening to Gospel music.

Christian School. The Center also has a Clothing Barn for the needy in Mercer County, a Sunday School for all ages, and a radio ministry, "Renewal," on Sundays at 8 a.m. In September the Nassau Christian School will open as part of the church.

"We are going back to one-room, individualized study in a wholesome Christian environment," Mr. Owens says, "which will emphasize respect to God, the Bible, respect for morality and authority, and we're going to supply a quality education." Enrollment is currently at 35 pupils, he says, with "calls coming in all the time."

Mr. Owens has been pastor of two other churches in New Jersey and served for five years as the state youth director for the Assemblies of God. He worked for Demos Shakarian, founder of Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International for three years and was invited to participate for three successive years as an ecumenical guest at the Catholic renewal conference in Atlantic City. He has preached at conventions, camps and seminars and has conducted campaigns in Latin America and Germany.

Nassau Christian Center now has an assistant pastor, the Rev. Robert Wittik, a full-time campus minister, the Rev. Kenneth Jasco, and Mr. Owens' daughter as office secretary. Future plans call for digging out the basement to create a room as large as the sanctuary for the coffee house and for erecting a steeple on top of the front tower which looks as if that's what the architect originally intended.

History of Church. The church structure dates back to 1868 when it was built by former members of First Presbyterian Church who had organized Second Presbyterian Church in 1847. Its most prominent member, Woodrow Wilson, joined Second Presbyterian Church in 1890 when he first came to Princeton to teach, and in 1897 he became an elder. Prof. Wilson transferred his membership to First Church in 1905 after another of several merger attempts was unsuccessful.

Second Church flourished under the long and benign pastorate of the Rev. Dr. William Tucker, minister during the 40s and early 50s. In 1965, the church underwent extensive renovation and redecoration and changed its name to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. In 1973, the two Nassau Street Presbyterian Churches merged, and worship and Sunday School activities were divided between the two buildings until 1977.

At that time, the Session decided to concentrate all church activities in the Palmer Square Sanctuary and turn St. Andrew's into a community center to be rented and renovated by groups serving various needs of the community. That plan proved not to be feasible, and the Session voted to sell the building in April, 1978.

Dr. Wallace Alston, senior minister of Nassau Presbyterian Church, says the proceeds of the sale will be used for mission-oriented purposes. The St. Andrew's Mission Fund was established at the time of the 1977 decision and is still in existence, he said.

BIBLE SCHOOL PLANNED

At Lutheran Church. The annual Vacation Church School at the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in Princeton Junction will be held August 18-22 from 9:30 to noon each day. The sessions are open at no charge to all children from pre-school to those entering sixth grade next fall.

The main theme this year is "Travels with Jesus," a series that explores the world of Jesus and His message of God's love for all people then and now. "Travels with Jesus" uses crafts, filmstrips, baking, songs and other activities for children. Questions and pre-registration may be handled by calling the co-directors, Randi Quanbeck at 452-9305 or LaRue Unglaube at 799-4290, or the church office at 799-1753 or 799-1783.

Pre-registration is recommended, but it may be made on Monday, August 18, at 9:30.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Witherspoon Presbyterian Church will hold its Sunday worship service this Sunday at 8:30 in the Princeton Cemetery. Participants should enter through the gate on Witherspoon Street opposite Green Street. The Rev. Geddes Hansen, moderator of the church, will speak.

The public is invited.

The Rev. Bertram G. Watkins of Kings Community Baptist Church, Cherry Hill, will speak this Sunday at 10 in the chancel of the Princeton University Chapel. His topic will be "Jekyll and Hyde."

The Rev. Carol Brandt, assistant pastor of the Princeton United Methodist Church, has graduated from Wesley Tehological Seminary in Washington, D.C. after six years of study.

NEW YORK LIFE

OBITUARIES

Samuel E. Copner, 75, of Pompano Beach, Fla., formerly of Hopewell, died August 2 in Holy Cross Hospital, Fort Lauderdale.

Mr. Copner retired in 1963 as assistant postmaster from the Princeton Post Office. He had been employed with the U.S. Postal Service from 1925 to his retirement. He was born in Trenton and had lived in Hopewell most of his life, before moving to Florida in 1967.

Husband of the late Frances E. Copner, he is survived by a step-son, Charles D. Harris of Princeton; two step-daughters, Mrs. Richard Coffee of Lawrenceville and Mrs. William Wooldridge of West Hartford, Conn.; a brother, Donald Copner of Trenton; and 12 grandchildren.

The service was scheduled to be held this Wednesday at 10 at the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, 40 Vandeventer Avenue. Burial will be in Highland Cemetery, Hopewell.

Mrs. Gertrude Dormer Brophy of 226 Linden Lane, the nurse at Princeton Day School, died August 4 in Princeton Medical Center.

Mrs. Brophy was born in Allentown, Pa., and had lived in Princeton since 1938. She was graduated from St. Francis School of Nursing and was employed for 25 years at Miss Fine's School and Princeton Day School. She was a member of the St Francis Alumna Association.

Widow of Thomas L. Brophy Sr., founder of Brophy Shoes, she is survived by a son, Thomas L Jr. of Lawrenceville; a daughter, Miss Barbara Brophy of Miami, Fla.; a brother, Edgar Dormer of Princeton; a sister, Mrs. Elsie Chatten of Hopewell; and four grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 8:45 a.m. at the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, 40 Vandeventer Avenue. Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 9:30 in St. Paul's Church, and burial will be in St. Paul's Cemetery. Friends may call Wednesday from 7 to 9 at the funeral home.

Woodrow Wilson, 53, of 35 Quarry Street, died July 28 in the Princeton Nursing Home.

Mr. Wilson was born in Aspen, Ga., and had lived in the Princeton-Trenton area for more than 35 years. He was formerly employed with the Atlantic Seafood Company.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret Wilson; a son, Clarence of Florida; three brothers, Thelton L. of Suftner, Fla., Sam of Cookstown, and the Rev. Joe Wilson, pastor of Bethel First Born Church, Trenton; three sisters, Mrs. Georgia Mae Cusack and Mrs. Areather Graham, both of Hightstown, and Mrs. Claudia Holton of Chula, Ga.

The service was held at the Bethel First Born Church, Elder Frank White Jr officiating. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mae A. Wainford, a former Princeton resident, died August 1 in Moore Memorial Hospital in Pinehurst, N.C.

She is survived by her husband, Philip J. Wainford, and a daughter, Philis Aster.

PLANNING CONTINUES

For Landau Picnic. Plans for The Landau Senior Citizens Picnic are progressing under the supervision of the Senior Citizens Club. The festivities will be held on Thursday, August 21, from 3 to 7 on the campus of Princeton University. Reservations must be made by Thursday, August 14, at the Senior Resource Center at 924-7108. Rain date will be August 22.

Matthew B. Maxwell is the coordinator with Princeton University in providing chairs, tables, electrical supplies and other details.

The Hillier Group Architects have donated poster boards to be used by the young people competing in the poster contest. Kathy West of the Recreation Department is supervising contestants in arts and crafts for the poster display, for which awards will be made to various age groups. Laina Savory is organizing Girl Scout volunteers to help serve and seat the guests.

The Grandfathers quartet will entertain and a variety of other entertainment is planned throughout the afternoon.

DATE ANNOUNCED

For Hopewell Antique Show. The Hopewell Valley Historical Society's Antique Show and Sale Committee has set the date for its fourth annual Show and Sale. This year's show will open on Wednesday, October 22, with a Preview Party, and continue on through Thursday and Friday, October 23 and 24, at St. James Roman Catholic Church, Pennington.

Plans are under way to have many of last year's dealers return, and the committee is anticipating new dealers with new and varied items. The food committee will again prepare and serve home cooked foods.

The co-chairmen are Luella Wheeling and Beth Maurer. Pam Babbitt will be in charge of food. Other committee members are Josie Dellenbaugh, Terry Miller, Bennie Sue Dale, Jerry Farina, Ruth Sayer, Cathy Noch, Pam Cain, Donna Heck, Jane Peden and Carol Wilbur.

The Greater Princeton Jaycees will meet Wednesday, August 13, at 7:30 in Colross Mansion at Princeton Day School. Gunther Hoyt and Tom Lederer from the Century Road Club of America will discuss and demonstrate bicycle maintenance as part of the program presentation. Meetings are open to the community.

The Central Region of the New Jersey Association of Women Business Owners (NJAWBO) will meet Thursday, August 14, for dinner at the Somerville Inn, Route 22, Somerville. The meeting will begin with cocktails at 5:30, followed by dinner and the business meetings.

Sonia Schlenger, Director of Organizational Systems, a Fair Lawn consulting firm, will address the group with a presentation on "The Organized Woman." The meeting will also include presentations by Jane Lucas of Employers Insurance of Wausau and Ann Bartlett, a Hunterdon County attorney.

The Senior Citizen's Club will meet on Monday at 1 in the Chestnut Street firehouse. Refreshments will be served and future trips discussed.

Looking for Places to Visit in New Jersey? Books at Public Library Offer Wide Choices

Don't sit in your back yard, advises the Princeton Public Library, watching the grass grow and the dollar shrink. Suzanne Hayes, of the library's staff, says the library is a rich source of information about day trips and other outings. "If you're not sure where to begin," she says, "let us suggest the following guides."

The most popular handbook is Michaela Mole's "Away We Go!" Find out how to visit a life-size gingerbread house, a bear farm, an ice cream factory and a picnic grove set in the middle of the Delaware River. Over 800 places to visit in New Jersey, nearby Pennsylvania and New York are described.

"Away for a Day," compiled by Linda and Pat Long, is for local explorers. Using Princeton as their starting point, the authors map out hundreds of ideas for mini-trips within a 50 mile radius, or an hour-and-one-half drive from our area.

Frank Esposito's "Travelling in New Jersey" includes a complete list of parks and other recreational spots in New Jersey's woodlands, river areas and coastal preserves. It also has capsule descriptions of many historic events and sites, like Edison's laboratory in Menlo Park, or the Hunterdon County Courthouse in Flemington, scene of the Lindburgh kidnapping trial.

History buffs will want to see Adeline Pepper's "Tours of Historic New Jersey." This is a guide to historic landmarks, monuments, houses and museums. Special tours appeal to every hobby from antique-hunting to rock-climbing and bird-watching. Detailed travel directions and distance estimates are provided.

For fans of biography and architecture we recommend "Houses of New Jersey" by W. Jay Mills. This enchanting guide covers 50 magnificent homes and their dwellers. Did you know that in 1776, "Morven," the home of Richard Stockton, signer of the Declaration of Independence, was abandoned by its owners in flight from the British? This is just one of the many fascinating stories to be found in this volume.

Leave your car behind and explore James and Margaret Cawley's book, "Exploring the Little Rivers of New Jersey," canoeing down the Millstone, the Raritan or the Mullica. If you're wondering where to rent a canoe, or what supplies you'll need, the authors have included chapters to answer all your questions.

And, if biking is your thing, you'll want to check out Harold Poor's "Bicycling in New Jersey." Over 30 itineraries are detailed, with a special chapter on tours based in the Princeton area. Trip distances, travel times and road conditions are described, as well as suggestions for eating and camping along the way.

All these guides, and many others, can be found at the Princeton Public Library. Just ask at the Information Desk. Our Children's Department has even more ideas for family trips. The Library's hours are Monday through Wednesday 9 to 9, Thursday and Friday 9 to 5:30. Saturday hours (9 to 5:30) will resume after Labor Day.

But Don't Go Near the Water!
To the Editor of Town Topics:

When the University fathers in their wisdom created that delightful lagoon and fountain at the Woodrow Wilson School on Washington Road, one wonders whether they futty contemplated the inevitable warm-weather response of the local population to such a powerful attraction!

It doesn't take much imagination to predict with confidence that -- in the absence of continuous police supervision -- kids and grown-ups alike are going to cool off their own way in that inviting lagoon on hot days and evenings from May to September.

Until early July of this year, the University authorities evidently had decided to look the other way and accept the inevitable. Then, in the apparent absence of any police supervision whatever, the lagoon area became a rendezvous for juvenile delinquents and other undesirables -- resulting in damage to University property and an appropriate if overdue response from campus security people.

Because of the possibility of invisible broken glass in the lagoon and for other obvious reasons, swimming and wading in the lagoon is sensibly forbidden in printed rules posted prominently around the lagoon.

However, the campus police, in strident over-reaction to a now-controlled problem, go beyond the printed rules and forbid any contact whatever between the lagoon and its visitors (a little like forbidding 12-year-olds to hold hands at a party). Let a young father or mother or one of their small fry so much as stick a finger – not to mention a toe – in the cool water, and a uniformed officer darts out from the shadows to deliver a solemn interdiction and lecture on the evils and hazards of any sort of body contact with the forbidden lagoon.

Result: The Woodrow Wilson lagoon area, which for many summers has echoed the laughter of young people and their offspring cooling off in a most happy environment, has now been largely abandoned to the point where the two or three campus police usually on duty there more often than not outnumber the visitors.

If that is the University's purpose, no one can properly complain since the lagoon is after all private property and by no means a privitege to which anyone is entitled.

However, the same result could be achieved without police supervision and at far less cost to the University simply by turning the fountain off in summer and emptying the lagoon.

As long as the fountain and lagoon are kept functioning and police supervision is provided, why not let people sit around the rim of the pool and cool their hands and feet in the welcoming (18-inch-deep) water?

Familiar Face Back on Police Force

BACK IN UNIFORM: One year to the day after he last worked for the Borough police department former Sgt. Robert J. Anderson of 5 Brook Drive E., Kingston, was back in uniform as a Borough meter officer. It is 33 years plus one day from the time he joined the Borough force on July 1, 1947.

Anderson recalled that he was enforcing meters when they were first installed in Princeton more than 25 years ago. "So it's nothing new for me," he said. "Just more meters (approximately 1,200) and more tickets (an average of 120 a day).

"I like it; I enjoy it. After 32 years if I didn't like this kind of work, I would have never stayed," said the Princeton-raised Anderson. He came to Princeton six months after being born in New Brunswick. One thing he likes about his new job are the "ideal" hours--10 to 6 Monday through Friday--which allows him time to visit his grandchildren near here; one in Kendall Park, one in Plainsboro, one in New Hope, Pa. He also has two in Alaska. His youngest son (he has three boys and two daughters) will be married Labor Day weekend.

sightly, dangerous for motorists, and as ignored by many cyclists as The Great Road path, the residents' objections would be valid even without the large assessments to be levied.

If the path is to be, why not let the bicyclists pay. A licensing fee should help defray much, if not all, of the expense involved. Many communities require license plates for bicycles; for money to maintain routes and as a protection for the bicycle owners.

First Aid Squad Praised.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Tuesday morning I watched the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad assist a woman who had just been in a car accident.

I want everyone in town to know how fortunate we are to have a group of people doing that job with skill and compassion. I was really moved by their ability to relate to that person on the ground and take care of the physical problems appropriately and with certainty.

WE'RE THINKING.....

About Pretty Brook Appeal. "No final determination has been made yet," said Princeton University financial vice-president Carl Schafer this week, concerning a possible appeal from the Planning Board's rejection of University plans to develop its Pretty Brook acreage.

University staff and consultants are talking it over. Conferees include Robert Wolfe, representing the University's real estate consultants, K.A. Sweet Associates; Jason Cortell Associates, environmental consultants; planner Anthony Walmsley, who developed all the Pretty Brook proposals over a period of months, and Thomas C. Jamieson, University counsel.

"Consultants and lawyers have been instructed to pursue certain routes, explore what legal remedies there are," Mr. Wolfe said. But he declined, as a consultant representing a client, to be more specific.

The University has time to move around in. First, Planning Board counsel Allen Porter must complete his "findings of fact" on the board's decision. Then the board must act on these findings and publish the formal, legal notice of its decision. The clock doesn't begin to tick until that publication, and the University has 45 days from that date to file any appeal. This could be October.

If the University also decides to make a court test of the Township's new zoning ordinance, which covers the Pretty Brook area, there is somewhat less time, but even that deadline is several weeks away, Mr. Schafer pointed out.

COURSE OFFERED

To Windsor Seniors. Mercer County Community College will offer an off-campus course on "History of Religions" led by Prof. Edmond Ettinger at the West Windsor Senior Citizen Center. The course is scheduled for Thursday afternoon at 1:30.

Sponsored under the Federal Older Americans Act, the course can be taken for college credit or audited, and there is no charge for those 62 and older. Classes will start in early September.

Registration forms are available at the West Windsor Senior Center in the Maurice Hawk School, Clarksville Road. The Center is open Tuesdays and Fridays from 1-4. Information and registration forms are also available from Mrs. Frances Ruch, West Windsor Social Services Director, West Windsor Muncipal Building, Clarksville and Post Roads, 799-2400.

Trips for Windsor Seniors. The West Windsor Commission on Aging and Senior Citizen Services will sponsor a free bus to Quaker Bridge Mall on Thursday. For reservations and a schedule of stops, call Mrs. Ruch.

SPORTS FANS I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to You by John Bernard

Here's one hard to believe, but it's true ... There was a big league baseball team that was in LAST place as late as Aug. 30 one year – and yet they still won the pennant ... The New York Mets were in last place on August. 30, 1973 – but despite that, they, incredibly, won the pennant that season.

I bet you didn't know ... that many health insurance plans including Blue Cross, Blue Shield do not cover children after they reach 19 years old.

Did you know that the Sugar Ray Leonard-Roberto Duran fight in June turned out to be the richest one-day sports event in HISTORY? ... Between the live gate and the world-wide closed circuit television, the fight earned over 30-million dollars ... Not even a Super Bowl or World Series, or any other fight, has ever grossed that much.

One of the most unusual lineups ever seen in a big league baseball game was the one San Francisco used one day in 1963 ... In leftfield was Felipe Alou ... In centerfield was Matty Alou ... And in rightfield was Jay Alou ... That's the only time in major league history that three brothers played for the same team at the same time ... And not only did the Alous play alongside each other in the outfield, but they also batted in succession in the batting order.

Scott Quackenbush Captures Club Tournament At Springdale for Fourth Time in Last Six Years

The ability to go from two down to four up over a span of six holes as the championship match was drawing to a close won another title at Springdale Golf Club for Scott Quackenbush. It was the fourth time in the last six years that the former Princeton University captain in the sport has taken top honors at Springdale.

Quackenbush had spent most of the morning round of 18 holes trailing his opponent, Norm Lewis. Down two at the turn, he rallied to draw even on the 18th green of the 36-hole match.

Lewis again opened up a two-hole gap at the end of five after the luncheon break. It was on the sixth tee that Quackenbush began the surge that led him to an eventual 4-and-3 victory.

Winning the next four holes, he shot an even-par 35 for the outgoing nine, holding a two-hole margin of his own in contrast to the morning deficit. He then continued his mastery when he added 10 and 11 to his string.

The 413-yard par 4 12th over the brook was tied, Lewis rallied briefly to take the par 3 13th and postponed the decision further when the 470-yard 14th, a short par 5, was halved.

Won First as a Sophomore. Quackenbush then closed out the match on the 126-yard 15th hole. He succeeds Dave Shillaber, whom Lewis eliminated in a semi-final match.

SPORTS In Princeton

The son of Hubert G. (Bill) Quackenbush, coach of the Princeton golf team, which has a string of Ivy titles to its credit, and Joan Quackenbush, a member of the sales staff of Rendall, Cook & Co., Scott first won the club championship at Springdale while an undergraduate in 1975. He repeated in '77 and '78.

On his way to this year's title, he began by qualifying with a two-over-par 73 to take medalist honors, then winning from Larry McHugh on the 20th green; from John O'Neil, 4 and 2, and from Jim Litvack, 5 and 4. An employee of International Business Machines since his graduation, he will spend the next two years at the Tuck School of Business Administration on the Dartmouth College campus in Hanover, N.H.

Three other flights completed in Springdale's annual club tournament. The first was won by Craig Davis, who defeated successively Charlie Bardwell, Jack Petrone, Jack Mudge and Mike Shillaber, Jr., taking the final round, 2 and 1.

Dick Schrantz won the second flight, winning from Dick Embley, Dick Bullock and, in the final round, Arne Booth, 2 and 1. Mickey Shannon won the third flight, 1 up, when he took the final hole from Dick Bradley. Earlier, Shannon had won by default from Bill Wilson and then eliminated John Miller and Mike Myers.

Women's Title at Springdale to Kate Litvack

Kate Litvack won her first Women's Championship at Springdale Golf Club Saturday when she defeated Claire Parsells, the defending champion, 3 and 2. The match was played in 90-degree heat after having been postponed for five days by heavy rain the previous Tuesday.

Reaching the turn 1 up, Mrs. Litvack won the difficult 497-yard 10th with a par 5. Her margin vanished, however, when Mrs. Parsells birdied the dogsleg 11th with a 3 and then won the 330-yard 12th.

Par figures on 13, 14 and 15 (3, 5, followed by another 3) gave Mrs. Litvack a dormie advantage over her opponent. She then ended the match on the 16th green by halving the hole--only the fifth the two women had tied during the match.

Mrs. Litvack, a member of Princeton Township Committee, had reached the club finals twice in the past but this was her first victory. The field she outlasted, in addition to Mrs. Parsells, included Kathy Shillaber, Sheila Layton, Audrey Gates, Ruth Thornton, Jackie O'Neil, Jane Shillaber, Susan Paine, Debbe Pierson, Amy Shillaber, Jan Hollister, Kate Conover, Mimi Frantz, Rose Johnson and Nancy Ford.

SPRINGDALE FINALISTS: Kate Litvack, winner of Springdale Golf Club women's championship, with Claire Parsells, whom she defeated in Saturday's final round.

Jay Lapidus Plans to Turn Professional

Jay Lapidus, who for part of the past year was rated the top U.S. college tennis player, has played his last match for Princeton despite the fact that he has another year of college. His senior year is still ahead of him. This week in tndianapolis, he is turning professional as a competitior in the U.S. clay Championships.

A graduate of Lawrenceville and a resident of 170 Lambert Drive, Lapidus has won 34 matches in his three years of competition at Princeton while losing six. During his sophomore year, he compiled a 13-0 mark. Under Coach Dave Benjamin, the Tigers have won the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Championship each of the years Lapidus was on the team, adding to a string that began in 1974. Numerous other honors, indoors aod out, came to Lapidus and his teammates, although the NCAA title eluded him despite his high ranking among his peers. He was a member of the United Statea Junior Davis Cup squad and a two-time All-American.

Lapidus's most recent tournament action saw him take the opening set, 6-4, from John McEnroe, ranked no. 2 behind Bjorn Borg at Wimbledon, in a tournament at South Orange before dropping the next two, 3-6 and 4-6. His play in that match was, however, largely acclaimed by the gallery and may have been the deciding factor in plans he had long had in the making to turn professional.

Play in the U.S. Open next month will temporarily wind down his career as he concentrates on a heavy course schedule and his thesis until steady professional action begins in the spring. Before the Open, he will enter tournaments in Stowe, Vt., and Cincinnati.

The only other incident of a similar nature involving a Princeton athlete who turned pro before leaving college was Dave Sisler's decision to sign with the Boston Red Sox while a junior here. As a result, he was ineligible for both basketball and baseball during his final year on campus.

BANQUET PLANNED

By Adult Softball League. The Princeton Adult Softball League banquet will be held Friday, August 15, from 7-12:30 at the Italian-American Club, Terhune Road. A cold buffet, beer, mixers, music and dancing will be available for $10 per person.

This is the fifth year for the event. It is highlighted by an awards presentation in which trophies are given to the regular season and playoff top place finishers for both the men's and women's teams.

Maryanne Cook and John Leiggi are the banquet chairman. Dress is casual and everyone is welcome. No tickets will be sold at the door so players should contact a team manager or the Recreation Department at 921-9480 for tickets and additional information. Tickets must be purchased by Monday.

U.S. TEAM ADVANCES

In Youth Soccer. Drawing crowds that would have been nearly impossible to accommodate just a year ago, the United States entry in the 19-nation CONCACAF youth soccer tournament easily won its first two games last weekend at Princeton University's new Bedford Stadium.

The United States team, which includes four players from New Jersey, will play this Thursday, against El Salvador, and Saturday, opposing Antigua. Both games are at 8:15.

The U.S. team defeated Barbados and the Netherland Antilles, both by 5-0 scores. The Americans' opponent on Thursday night, El Salvador, shut out each of its first two opponents, Antigua and Barbados.

Crowds approaching 4,000 attended the U.S. team's games last weekend. Princeton's new soccer facility, which has permanent bleachers and lights, seats 4,200.

The tournament is sponsored by the North, Central Americao aod Caribbean Football Federation. Princeton is one of four regional sites for the tournament. Other teams are competing in Dallas, Los Angeles, and Edwardsville, Illinois.

Hole In One on No. 9

The 193-yard ninth hole at Springdale Golf Club was the setting for a hole in one Sunday, scored by John Boneparth of Cold Soil Road. He hit his tee shot on the par 3 water hole with a three iron.

Boneparth, who is marketing director for Saratoga Springs Co. in New York, was playing in a twosome with Bob Denby of Meadowbrook Lane, Skillman, a member of Denby-Versfeld Associates on Alexander Road. Both are former faculty members at Princeton Day School.

SEMI-FINALS BEGIN

In Women's Slow Pitch. League leading Conte's Bar is facing Yamasaki Swim Club, and Mike's Tavero plays Koffee Cup this week in three-game playoff series to determine the teams competing in next week's championship of the Princeton Women's Slow Pitch Softball League.

This week's games were scheduled for Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday, if necessary, beginning at 6:15 at Community Park. The two winning teams will meet in games tentatively scheduled for next Mooday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, if necessary.

The defending champions in the womeo's slow pitch league, Sweet Jersey Corn, passed up participation in the league this year to compete instead in the Mercer County Women's A League. Sweet Jersey won the pennant in that league, but was knocked out of the playoffs in the first round. Sweet Jersey's influence is still felt in the Princeton league, however; every team in the playoffs has at least one player who also competes for Sweet Jersey. Steve Cohen, manager of Sweet Jersey, also coaches Yamasaki in the Princeton league with his brother Michael.

Without Sweet Jersey Corn, which last season lost only one game, the Princeton league's playoffs are hard to forecast. Conte's was the league leader in regular play, but lost last week to its play-off opponent, Yamasaki.

The fourth place finisher in regular play, Yamasaki

Proposal Made to Princeton Trustees to Replace Paid Coaches With Student Captains as Step to De-emphasize Sports Program

If President John Grier Hibben of Princeton University had had his way many years ago, Princeton University would have had no paid coaches for its athletic teams, which would have received their instruction from their student captains. The entire sports program at Princeton was endangered by "unnatural domination by graduate coaches," President Hibben told his Board of Trustees, urging that athletics here be carried on at a much lower level of intensity.

The time was 65 years ago, in January, 1915, and the look back at a bygone era is provided in the current issue of "Business Digest," a magazine seeking to give readers in the State of Maine a notalgic glimpse of what their forebears were reading in other years. The article is reprinted from the "Portland Evening Express and Advertisers" of January 14, 1915, and datelined, Princeton, N.J.

A copy of the pertinent page has been sent to TOWN TOPICS by Mrs. Nancy N. Lea of 544 Mercer Road, who came upon it "while flying the Bar Harbor Airlines from Mt. Desert to Portland."

President Hibben left little doubt in his annual report to the trustees of the drain that paid coaches placed on the annual budget and the mounting expense of a steadily-growing intercollegiate program. In sharp contrast to his views was the fact that just three months earlier, the University had dedicated its 50,000-seat Palmer Stadium with a game against Dartmouth, clearly envisioning the not-too-distant time when it would be filled to capacity, in the next decade, for games against Harvard, Yale and the likes of Notre Dame and Ohio State.

President Hibben nonetheless singled out football as his principal target, asserting that great benefits were being denied Princeton student athletes because the ability to make their own decisions as coaches--and the resultant experience to be gained through increased responsibility--was being denied them.

The text of the portion of the report quoted in the 1915 news story.:

"Our athletics not only in Princeton, but throughout the Country, are suffering from an over-organized system of coaching. I hope that the time may soon come when the paid coach will disappear. He and his ever-increasing number of assistants, all of whose expenses prove a heavy drain upon the athletic treasurer and tend to keep up the gate receipts of intercollegiate contests at an abnormal figure, render intercollegiate sport an unduly expensive affair.

"Particularly in the game of football, the captain of the team should be the sole responsible person for the management of his men, devising and directing their play in practice games so that in the critical situations of a great contest he and his team will rise to the occasion and win or lose with honor.

"It is quite absurd when one comes to think of it, that the control of the team in all preliminary games should be in the hands of a body of men who are relegated to the side lines when the play is on. After all it is an undergraduate affair and the game should be planned and played by undergraduates. If you place upon them the responsibility, they will respond to it, for it is certain that responsibility always provokes efficiency. That men may be resourceful in time of emergency they must be schooled in the art of resourcefulness by some stimulation of their latent powers of ingenuity.

"If we release our undergraduates from the unnatural domination of their sports by graduate coaches and from the confusion of many minds and voices in the direction of their activities we will simplify the whole athletic situation and liberate intercollegiate sport from the abnormal incubus of a superimposed system which tends to make puppets of their players, limiting the spontaneity and free play of their natural initiative."

scored five runs in the first two innings and defeated Conte's, 7-4. Karen Petruska, pitcher Ree Smurthwaite, Carol Keyes, and Pam Carone led the attack. Conte's hitting was paced by Laine Ivan and Dee Pearce, who both went 3 for 4, and Missy Dungan, who drove in two runs.

Mike's Stops Scupper. The game between Mike's Tavern and Rusty Scupper ended in the top of the fifth inning, with Mike's ahead 18-1 -- the league calls games after five innings when the margin is 15 runs or more. Joan Modzelewski held the Scupper to three hits, two of them by Joanne Stewart.

Clare Baxter, Debbie Ficcarro, and Debbie Breithaupt all hit home runs for Mike's. Lorraine Duthie and Missy McClosky hit triples.

After missing two games by forfeits, Andy's Tavern defeated Ivy Inn, 15-2. Winning Pitcher Joan Barton gave up both runs in the first inning.

Michelle Morgan, Andy's leading hitter with a .550 season average, had a perfect day at the plate with four hits, four RBIs, and three runs scored. Marie Wszolek, Carol Auster, Jeri Morris, and Robin Bauer also contributed to Andy's attack.

Ivy's Mary Ellen Hirst was two-for three.

The final standings:

MEN'S PLAYOFFS SET

In Princeton Softball. With one game remaining in regular season play, Corinthian Square Club and Conte-Staats each have one-game leads over the second place teams in their divisions.

Corinthian Square Club, with a record of 15 and 2, will play Wreckmaster-PMC, 6-11, while Conte-Staats will try to hold onto its divisional title, going against Center Sports. Conte-Staats is 14-2, Center Sports is a 13-3.

If Center Sports wins on Tuesday evening, a playoff game will be necessary to decide the divisional championship. That game would be played this Wednesday night at Community Park.

This year's playoffs, involving the top three teams in each division begin this week and will continue next Monday through Thursday, if necessary. The participating teams include Corinthian Square Club, Mike's Tavern, and Princeton Athletic Club from one division; Conte-Staats, Center Sports and Sweet Jersey Corn from the other.

The two divisional champions will draw a bye in the first round of the playoffs, while the second place team takes on the third place finisher from the other division in a best of three series. The winners will cross bracket and play the

NAVY CROWNED CHAMPS

Of Summer Lacrosse. Bob Campbell scored four goals and Kip Sparrow produced two goals plus an assist to lead Navy to a 10-5 victory over Blue in the finals of the Princeton Summer Lacrosse League.

The Blue, led by Scott Waterman and Bob Flippin, who both scored two goals, and Kevin Ellis, who had a goal and an assist, were tied through the third period. In the final period Navy scored five times.

Other Navy goals were scored by Paul Bessire, Ronnie Campbell, Scott Chase, and Alex Versfeld.

Navy reached the finals by defeating Green, also by a 10-5 score. Bob Campbell also scored four goals in the semin-final win, and Sparrow followed with three. Jeff Henkel, Tom Gates, and Chase scored one apiece.

Green was paced by Fred Bull, who scored twice, Jim Delang, Glenn Cleveland, and Hal Kokes, who had one goal each.

Blue Romps. To reach its spot in the finals the Blue team scored an easy, 10-0 victory over Gold. Kevin Ellis scored three goals, with Scott Waterman and Mark Sweetland contributing two apiece.

The Blue team had had a tougher time in the quarterfinals, edging Red, 7-6. Chris Cahill began the scoring for Blue, Sweetland then added three, and the final three goals were scored by John Morris. Red matched the scoring until the end, with David Lewis, David Barnes, and Allen Fitzpatrick scoring two apiece

RUNNING EVENTS SET

To Be Held in September. The First National Bank of Princeton will sponsor two running events, Sunday, September 21, a "Run-For-Fun" and a "Half-Marathon," for the benefit of Princeton's YMCA and First Aid and Rescue Squad. The race will be administered by the Greater Princeton Jaycees and the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton area.

Both events will start at the YMCA and will finish at Palmer Square. The Half-Marathon will begin at 1 and the Run-For-Fun will commence several minutes later.

The Run-For-Fun is a three mile race which will take contestants through the heart of Princeton. The Half-Marathon is a 13.1 mile race which follows paved roads through rolling hills in residential areas and the surrounding countryside. The Half-Marathon is NJAAU sanctioned, certified, and well-marked.

Awards will be given to both male and female top finishers in both events in seven different divisions. The first 2,000 entrants will be given T-shirts.

The entry fee is now $5; after September 13, the fee will be $7. For further information, call The Running Start, 2 Chambers Street, 924-6259 or 924-8258, after 6.

More than 2,000 runners from New Jersey and surrounding states are expected to participate. Those who will volunteer to help with the administration of the events, may call either Susan Tarr, evenings, 924-8258, or Tom Haggerty, days, 771-6338.

EXPOSITION PLANNED

On Graphic Arts. New technologies and methods for producing advertising layouts and advertisements, publications, displays and photographs will be demonstrated and discussed at Communications Connection '80--"An Exposition of the Graphic Arts," to be held Wednesday, August 20, in the Prince William Room of the Nassau Inn.

The Exposition, sponsored by a group of companies in central New Jersey, has been geared to a wide audience ranging from students to corporate executives, according to its sponsors.

Fields to be explored include laminating, binding, printing–from one, two and four color, to specialty tabloid--paper supply, graphic design, custom photography, typesetting, mechanical preparation and facsimile communication. There will be display booths and demonstrations, and company representatives will be present to answer questions.

At a series of seminars, experts will describe the newest developments in various aspects of the graphic arts and visual communications. Hammermill Paper will present a film, "Paper: Messenger of Mankind," and a representative of Central Paper Company will answer questions from the audience after each screening

WANNA DO IT YOURSELF? Painting the outside of your house by an amateur painter can look very nice, but gets very costly to redo if that new paint is flaking off in a short time, due to poor preparation, moisture problem or the use of the wrong type of paint. Before you start, consult Julius H. Gross, Princeton, with 25 years professional painting experience to analyze the surface, moisture testing, recommending proper surface preparation and type of primers and finish paint to be used. Consultation fee $25. In most cases, Call Julius H. Gross at 609-924-1474 for an appointment on your job. 7-2-tf

HOUSE OF THE MONTH

OLD & NEW, NEW & OLD

Start with an old one-acre setting of big trees and an old house (200 years) with some wide floor boards, exposed hand hewen beams and two fireplaces. Add some new space — a neat kitchen, two big contemporary rooms (each 15' x 22' & one with a 14' cathedral ceiling). Build in some up-to-date details: A beautiful open staircase of solid natural oak, oark stained floors and solid pine panelling (also dark stained) and top it off with a huge three-car very sturdy out building with a big second floor waiting to be used for something important (studio, study, guests, office, writer's hide-a-way) and you have our newest Montgomery Township listing & close to Princeton and beautiful Griggstown.

PRINCETON THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

An Equal Opportunity Employer

Join Us at TOWN TOPICS

Three positions, each of a different nature, are open at TOWN TOPICS—all part-time and permanent. We plan to fill them all between now and Labor Day.

We have a position open in our advertising department to handle display advertising accounts, many of them long-time contract advertisers. Copywriting, layout, some selling of new accounts involved. Previous experience in advertising and/or sales helpful, but not essential—we can provide necessary training for someone who enjoys working with our advertisers.

Hours: All day Friday and Monday, and Tuesday mornings. Car essential—we pay mileage. Salary open. Selling is not based on commission, but remuneration includes annual Christmas bonus and participation in profit-sharing plan, plus two-weeks' paid vacation.

If you are interested in being a part of the production of a weekly newspaper, this opportunity will appeal to you. TOWN TOPICS has a position open in its composing room.

Duties include tape-punching stories, ad composition, paste-up and the operation of various photo-typesetting computers. Typing ability of at least 50 words per minute is essential but no previous experience is required—merely a willingness to learn.

Hours are all day Monday and Tuesday, part-time Friday. Paid vacation. Participation in profit-sharing plan, which involves no payroll deductions.

TOWN TOPICS also has a position open in its front office, one that will appeal to those who enjoy working with the public, in person and on the telephone. Duties include taking classified ads, proof-reading, simple record-keeping and billing, and other office functions of a journalistic nature. Typing ability of approximately 40 words per minute essential and at least a year of office experience is preferred. Hours are 9 to 5 Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Salary open, based on experience and ability, benefits include paid two-week vacation after one year, annual bonus and participation in profit-sharing plan.

Please call 924-2200 to arrange an appointment and (for the composing room and front office positions) a typing test.

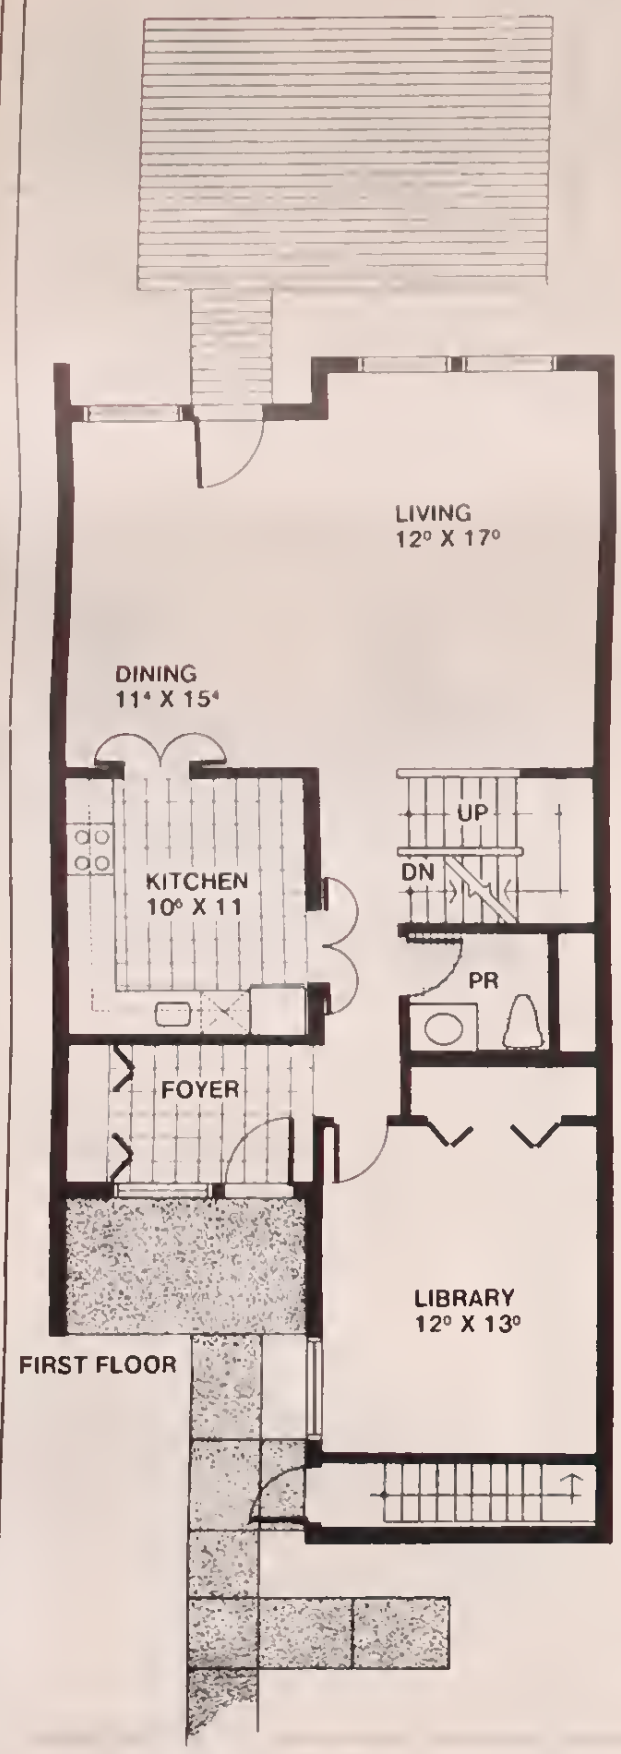
HOMES FOR TODAY'S LIVING

...a planned 94 acre residential community, unique to the Princeton area.

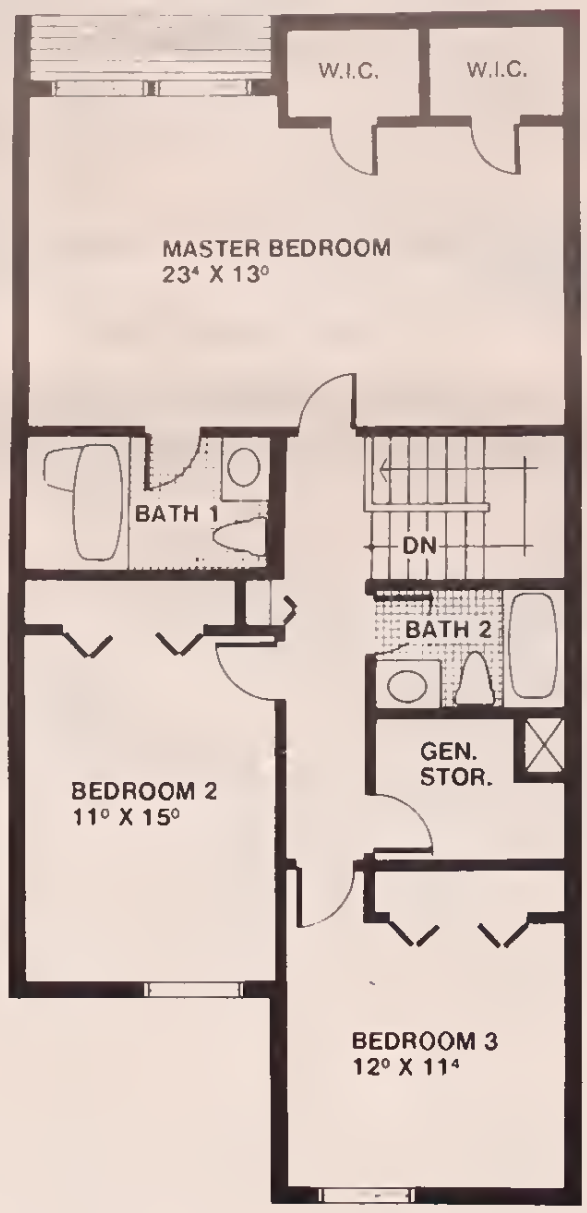


A 94 acre residential community, designed for todays living, in perhaps the most desirable location in New Jersey — the Princeton area.

Set back on the gentle bluff overlooking the east bank of Lake Carnegie — Forrestal Village presents a choice of six outstanding contemporary models. A tree-lined boulevard will connect the village area with the office research center across Route 1, and provide access to nearby major highways. Swimming Pools and Tennis Courts, too!

Fishing, sailing and canoeing are right here on the nearby Millstone River, Delaware-Raritan Canal and Carnegie Lake. Hiking and picnicking are possible on a 480 acre natural open space conservation range.

And the houses themselves — beautifully built, spacious (up to 2400 square feet), with 2½ baths, special insulation packages, heat pumps, ceramic tile, wooden decks, full basement, some hardwood flooring! Outstanding values.



And Best of All, This Very Day There Are 5 Units (Like the One Shown Here) Still Available. They Will Never Be Less Expensive. Call Now! Ask for Jim Laughlin.

TENNIS COURTS ABUILDING: Where once were nine clay tennis courts at Community Park, bulldozers now roam. The Nuttree Corporation of Paterson is in the process of installing a more resilient Acrycushion surface. When finished in mid-September, the courts will have a blue playing area and a green perimeter. Story this page.

CONVERSION UNDER WAY

Of Community Park Courts. Conversion of the nine fast-dry, clay tennis courts at Community Park to a permanent surface has begun and R. Donald Barr, executive director of the Princeton Recreation Board, estimates that it will be completed by October 1.

Barr described the new surface as cushioned and more flexible than the more traditional hard surface courts. They are being resurfaced to eliminate the costly maintenance required by the fast-dry courts. In addition there are six, hard-surface courts at Community Park.

Longer Playing Time? Barr said that he assumes that the new surface will permit a longer playing season. "It is conceivable they could be used 12 months a year, as far as the surface being playable," Barr said. The season for the clay courts has been April 15 to October 31.

But there would be attendant problems which the recreation board would have to consider, Barr added. Because the new surface is so pliable it would probably require an attendant on duty to guard against the use of improper footwear. The availability of an attendant during winter months and the added costs raises more questions.

As for the fee for the new courts, Barr reports that no deicison has been reached. "The Recreation Board wants to provide the facility to the community as reasonably as we can," he said.

Presently, there is no charge for using the courts during the day. At night under the lights a punch card system is used. The punch cards cost $15 and area available to Princeton residents only. Each time it is used the cost is $1.50 per player per time (1½ hours), which Barr described as "very reasonable."

The card is punched twice ($3) for a non-resident guest. Non-residents must play with a Princeton player.

GIFTS SET RECORD

Over $6 Million for Prtn-ceton. Princeton University's Annual Giving program topped $6 million for the first time in its 40-year history as it registered a fifth consecutive record-breaking year. Total contributions for the 1980 campaign came to $6,490,306, more than $650,000 above last year's total.

Participation by 54.1 per cent of alumni represented an improved performance over the 1979 figure of 53.9 per cent and followed several years of declining participation. The change is attributable in part to the Class of 1979, which set a record for the greatest number of gifts--635--ever received from one class in a single campaign.

Major reunion classes, which typically raise over half the campaign dollars each year, accounted for $3,540,391, or 55 per cent of this year's total. The 25th reunion class of 1955 reached an all-time, all-class record high of $1,035,709 under the leadership of Class Agent Edmund V. Cervone of Pennington, N.J., Special Gifts Chairman Alan M. Willemsen of Mendham, and Class President Charles F. Mapes Jr. of Pennington. In addition to the new 25th reunion record, seven other classes broke previous major reunion records in the 1979-1980 campaign: 1920, 1925, 1935, 1940, 1950, 1960 and 1975.

Besides gifts received directly from alumni, the record total included additional contributions from matching gift companies, widows and friends of deceased alumni and parents of current and former students.

Firestone Not to Be Closed

"There are absolutely no such plans," emphasized Glendon Odell, associate librarian at Princeton University in commeot oo reports in a Trentan newspaper that the University is planning to close the doors of Firestone Library to everyone except the University's own community.

"I don't know when–or even if–such a thing would happen," he added.

He acknowledged that Firestone is plagued by a widespread library problem--the theft and mutilation of books. Discussions among staff members about the problem are a continuing agenda item, he said.

Although Mr. Odell was quoted as saying that persons with a "scholarly reason to be here would, with some kind of registration, be allowed to use the library," he expressed dismay at the story, and repeated that there are no plans to close the library to outsiders.
